OY5 Splash Planet (sprint)

Splash Planet was a pretty new map for the club and had only been used twice before. It was developed for Sprint the Bay 2013 and apart from that had been only used when the club hosted the NZSS champs in July 2013, so many club members, including myself, had never run a course on it.

First impressions after a walk around – this will be fun! Ross Morrison had done an excellent job of mapping a pretty complex area, there were a few changes to be made as some trees had been removed and a new wooden ship had appeared in the middle of the map, but otherwise it all looked pretty good to go.

The event centre could hardly be better – parking, an undercover area for the caravan, toilets, all in one place and a start and finish immediately adjacent. Great!

Urban sprint courses have significant differences from regular O courses on farm or forest. They have their own map specs, the scale of the map is typically 1:3 – 1:5000, and importantly there are usually many features mapped as uncrossable such as gardens, walls and fences. If marked as such, competitors are disqualified if these are breached. Courses are not typically a true navigational challenge, rather the challenge is about quick and accurate route choice while running at speed and keeping good map contact while doing so (sounds easy).

The courses were fun to set, there were heaps of interesting places to put controls and we put in as many legs with route choice options as we could. It was a pretty compact area, so most courses were taken out onto the park to add a bit of length and give you a chance to stretch your legs.

Splash Planet was a great place to have a sprint event and I think the enjoyment people had was reflected in the number that came back for a second run or even a third on a different course. In total, 257 courses were run which is pretty exceptional and made it a very successful event. I'm sure it will prove to be a popular map in the future.

Big thanks to Stephan and all helpers on the day.

Napier Hill Score

I thought I'd get organised early this year so I got the Gruinard map sent to me, updated Condes and started planning some of the courses. I was working out at McKenzie Road one day so had a chat with the farm manager, the owner was away but it would be OK if I wanted to have a look around one weekend.

The next weekend I printed off the maps I had completed and went and had a look around. I've never run at Gruinard so it was really interesting wandering about, through the forest block and down to the creek that twists back and forth at the far end of the map. I made some changes to the courses I had and updated them when I got home.

I rang Roger and he hadn't been able to get in touch with the land owner. I carried on with my course planning and seemed to be going quite well until Roger got back to me and said we can't use the map because the farm is on the market and the owner would prefer if we weren't running all over the place while prospective buyers are looking.

Well that's the end of that!

I was in touch with my vetter, Henry, to let him know the situation. I eventually got a call, with two weeks to go, could I do a score event on Napier Hill. Shouldn't be a problem, except I'm on call for one of those weeks so not much chance to get out and check control sites. I planned a white course and the score and managed to get out the Sunday before the event, in the howling wind and rain, and checked out the white course, which looked pretty good. I got around most of the other control sites and they seemed OK.

I relocated a few of the control sites on Condes and sent the final version for printing. Because the course was in a residential area all the controls had to be put out on the day of the event. Pamela came round on Saturday night to reset all the controls for daylight saving and then we were all set for the big day.

Sunday dawned bright and clear, oh, no it didn't, it was dark (daylight saving), pouring with rain and blowing a gale. I got Caitlin up before the arse crack of dawn (her words), and we headed over to the Ocean Spa car park. Henry arrived and we headed off to get all the controls out. Man it was wet!

The Stone family arrived, Pamela set up the computer and we were ready to go. People started arriving, the weather started getting worse and we were into it. We didn't get a lot of competitors but considering the weather it was pretty good. I hope everyone enjoyed themselves.

We packed up, gathered the controls and tried to leave with the caravan in tow but the wheels were trapped. We were stuck and going nowhere in the wet. Luckily Henry had a rope and a four wheel drive so it wasn't a total disaster.

I'd like to thank everybody that came and took part in the rain, also the Stone family, Henry, Pamela, Caitlin and anyone else that helped in some way to make it all happen.

OY6 Ranui (score)

I think we have a winner for Landowner of the Year. Who else would clean and equip the toilet for us? And offer to move any stock to the part of the farm we weren't using? And open many of the gates? And tell us we didn't have to patronise their café as we were starting at the woolshed? And turn the electric fences off — all of them? And then turn out with the family to compete in the event (burgling the Red Short Vet grade in the process)?

Yes, Trevor Ennor and father Rob and all the family were just great. Even insisted on giving us morning tea when we arrived for our first look over the map. On the day, Rob saw two pensioners pushing half a tonne of caravan and came over to give us hand to get it into place.

The Ennors wouldn't take the credit for the brilliant weather on the day, so Alan and I will. It certainly made for a very pleasant feel to the event.

I tried a few different things for this one. Figuring that we use a wide range of point values in rogaines, there seemed to be no reason why a score event had to be just 10, 20 or 30 points for a control. That is probably just a legacy of clipcards with their 27 squares arranged in three rows.

Likewise the old manual timing, with just start and finish times, couldn't tell when the runner had punched any control, so the only penalty in score events was for exceeding the time at the end. With electronic timing we can see whether someone punches a control after the time limit (one hour in this case). That allows the idea that in a one-hour score event you have one hour to score.

It also allows the setter to place some high value controls near the finish, in this case 163 on the spur and 151 on the pine tree by the woolshed. Runners can't just then do a trade-off, figuring that they stand to gain more than they lose by going and getting a control after the time allowed. I'm sure I'll get your feedback on this innovation . . . and some of it may even be printable.

I chose the southern part of the map which we have not used much before and broke with Duncan and Devon's tradition by giving you a pleasant down hill walk to the start. My favourite control in the southern part was the one at the foot of the waterfall which I think rewarded those who went there with a view of a lovely little spot. Did anyone see the dragons mentioned on the southern border of the map?

One challenge for a setter of a score event is to place the controls, and allocate the values, so that there is no obvious route that everyone will take. I am interested to hear what route choices people made, and which controls they decided not to try for. Most runners headed up the hill from the start, stood on the skyline having a think, then headed north. I had a go at competing in my own event (unofficially obviously) and chose to go south first to 118, figuring that I didn't want to slog up the hill at the end and preferring to finish along the flat high ground from 162, to 140, 123 and 151.

Another challenge for the score event setter is to place the controls at more or less yellow level, so everyone not doing a white course can still be expected to find them. The challenge for the runner then is to work out what is possible in the time and plan the best route for achieving that. We made some compromises, mostly on controls further away and in the forest, but generally we think there was a handrail to an attack point within 50 metres of the control.

And on the subject of what is possible, I tried to set up the controls so that the fastest runners would think that it was just about possible to get the lot. My optimum route measured about 8.7k as the crow flies between controls or about 10.5k as the runner probably had to go. If anyone had been able to do that while navigating and coping with the climb, at close to 5-minute k's, I would have been mightily impressed. In the event Callum almost achieved it, scoring 1090 of the 1180 but just missing his last control before time ran out.

This event must have been blessed. The gales which had blown until Wednesday abated on Thursday, the day we had available to set out controls, and Alan was able to tow the caravan without risk of being turned over on the road by a wind gust.

And blessed again. We realised the white course maps needed one extra line on each to show that two tracks came together. So getting them out to mark the change, I found we had 150 white course maps and only 30 score maps. Because we discovered it, and because it was Thursday, we were able to get more score maps printed.

And thrice blessed. Yes, I know the control collectors must wear those duck shooters' camo vests so the base stations can be stowed and can't fall off and be lost while carrying controls back. But our collector wasn't wearing one, and the base station did fall off. But he went back out to the middle of the map and found it again. Blessed indeed.

Thanks to my vetter Alan who was a pleasure to work with, to the Ennors again, to all the invisible people who just make each event possible like David, Stephan, Pamela, Phillip and Murray; and to the crew of Havelock High Turkey-bound girls and their parents who looked after the caravan and, in the case of the girls, did control collection as another training exercise. OrienTERROR

So the EIT ask Tim Creagh and Cryn Russell if they could organise an other Team building Orienteering event, like we did last year. I was ecstatic when they chose the 31st of October. We could run the EIT event during the day and open up OrienTERROR for the public at night. Ever since my first night orienteering course, I have dreamt of a night event on Halloween with scarers. Now we had the opportunity!

Jenna Tidswell and Georgia Creagh set the course. There was self-induced pressure, to set a really good course to keep club members happy on the night. With the help of the Hugh Forlong-Ford (vetter) giving a few suggestions after the three of us (Hugh, Georgia and Kim) had run around EIT until 10pm one Sunday night, we had our course! Shame I was the only one with work the next day!

Cryn and Tim worked tirelessly contacting schools, collecting gadgets and smoke machines, organising skeletons and making contact with the “mother figure” of the retired corn evil scarers. While I went nuts with the papier-mâché and props and promoting some amateur scarers (mostly family). We had a few hairy moments when the forecast was for rain and we lost contact with our “mother scarer” but it all came together on the night. The weather was perfect and the scarers were begging for more and thanking US for letting them do “their thing”.

The night ended up being bigger and better than we could have imagined. We estimate just short of 500 people came and mostly in costume. Most people thought safety in numbers and went out in groups of three or four. The feedback was amazing with people saying they really enjoyed themselves. Although the helpers didn't get to do the course, we listen to the screams that echoed around the EIT and the stories that came in. It was “pure entertainment” “Great course” “Best Halloween Ever”... Sorry if you missed out on the Creepy Doll Girl, Girl with the Axe, Camouflage Man, Zombie Man, The Haggard Troll Lady under the bridge and many others, because you missed a scary, creepy funny evening. Speaking on behalf of the organisers I think I can safely say we are still buzzing. Even though we were clearing up until 1am in the morning ... we didn't even care!

We need to thank Hugh for his vetting and his dedication to the job. Dave Fisher was, as always wonderful when it came to helping us out with Condes. Thank you Phillip Herries for coming and helping us out first thing in the morning with the computer. Also we want to thank all the club members that supported us on the night and particularly the ones who ended helping out just because they were there. We thought we had it covered but those numbers were quite a challenge. Lastly though we must thank the Hawke's Bay Orienteering Club for letting us do this.

Kiwi-O

We are now partners with SportHB and KiwiSport in a project to promote orienteering to more school children in Hawkes Bay. You will see the logos for these two organisations appear in the list of Sponsors on our club website shortly.

1. What is Kiwi-O? It's a fun, short name for Kiwisport Orienteering – sessions teaching the basics of orienteering, usually at a school. Many club members have volunteered lessons in Hawkes Bay schools over the years and this continues but also we have a contract with SportHB to carry out Kiwi-O sessions. [It comes with some funds and some obligations, ie we must plan for long-term continuance and pass some knowledge onto school teachers as we go].
The kids love the simple Kiwi-O sessions – it doesn't take long to go from "I don't get it" to "Oh, I get it now". Most of them will attempt the first Kiwi-O course twice if it has electronic timing because it is something new and they immediately want to improve and/or beat their friends. They all get a map and a print-out to take home to show their families.
2. What do you think the benefits will be? This first KiwiSport contract is to bring an orienteering race to 900x Intermediate School-aged children – we aim to have this many new people become aware of our sport by the end of Term 4 in 2014. More children than ever before will have tried orienteering before they go to Year 9. We will wait to see if numbers increase in the High Schools teams over the next two years.
3. What will you do in a typical event? In the first hour a class group will complete a quick lesson to learn some map symbols, then take a walk around the school hall each with a map, learning how to orientate a map correctly while moving around a building. Then they can all do a white course around the school grounds using a map and SI-card. That would take a full hour.

If they get to do a second hour they could attempt two 3-loop courses. I have found a new-comer can take 12 mins to do their first 6-control course and in a couple of sessions take only 12 mins to do a harder, 12-control loop course – that's how fast they learn! We don't find time to teach them about contours or compass work in the first two hours.

If we are at a school during their lunchtime we will try to have the big O-Maze for everyone to try. It attracts kids like a magnet and is "full on" for half an hour - we have had over 20x kids in the maze at one time!

4. Which schools will be involved? We can only offer sessions to the schools that are currently mapped but maybe eventually could give one lesson to all Yr 7/8 students in Napier, Hastings and Havelock North. We have contacted the larger Intermediates in all areas already. Also, we will consider doing sessions at High Schools if requested.
5. Are there any plans afoot to expand it? If the schools want more sessions it would be senseless to stop Kiwi-O after the first 900 children. SportHB is certainly supportive of projects like this carrying on and will encourage us to submit another application for funding for future promotions.

This first term needn't be a one-off project. During the next few months the club will be monitoring the schools' responses and considering how best to do more promotion to young Hawkes Bay people. We will know we have been successful when Kiwi-O becomes a household word in Hawkes Bay.

6. How did the idea for Kiwi-O originate? Kiwi-O activities have been promoted on the ONZ website for several years now - the idea is not new. Any teacher who was really interested could download lots of ideas and lead their class in fun activities. We are taking these ideas to the school as a prepared package so the kids get introduced to the sport without their teacher needing to know or do much.
7. Who is in the HB Kiwi-O teaching team? At the moment we have Steve Armon, Fiona Rainbow, Natalie Miller and me, Jane Herries, liaising and introducing Kiwi-O into schools. It is best to have two people leading any session to adequately deal with new-comers and their questions. Any club members can become part of the team – (if you read this and want to get involved give Jane a call, she'll roster you on). If you have done a white course you have the knowledge to assist with Kiwi-O. Some teenage members will be approached to help in Kiwi-O during December and February – all Intermediate-age students relate well to teenage role models so we are keen to have our juniors be coaches at Kiwi-O sessions during their holidays.

Sept: Fiona Rainbow

1. How long have you been involved in orienteering?

Frances (my daughter) and I have been orienteering for 18 months.

2. How did you get involved with orienteering?

David Barclay (same as everyone else this side of Blackbridge!)

3. What do you remember about your first event?

Feeling pleased I had studied and worked at EIT (the map of the day) and pleased that I had a 10year old to help me.

4. What courses do you usually run?

Orange, with a dash of 'off piste'

5. What do you enjoy about orienteering?

The sense of adventure it brings

6. If we met you during the week, what would you be doing?

Either working at Women's Refuge or with Jane orienteering in schools

7. What's the first thing you do when it all goes wrong?

Panic
