Another busy year draws to a close - a year which saw a lot of competitive orienteering but still allowed time for plenty of fun outings together. Not that some of those occasions were really meant to be fun outings but like the Tuki Tuki swimming event at Labour Weekend, just happened to turn out that way. The weather has done its best to dampen everyone's spirit over the last twelve months but who cares about getting wet, cold and miserable when you are "having fun"?

We again have a keen and enthusiastic committee for 1993 so we can look forward to another year of great orienteering together.

The festive season is fast approaching so forget about fitness, get fat and slothful and just lie back and enjoy it for a while!

Alan B.

ANNUAL MEETING & DINNER

The annual meeting and dinner at the Heretaunga Park Hotel in November was a great success and thoroughly enjoyed by the good crowd of members who came along. The treasurer's report is enclosed with this issue of Compass Points for those who were not able to attend. A very modest adjustment was made to the subscription scale, which is now:

Adults 19+	$28
Juniors 13 - 18	$14
Family membership	$70

PRESIDENT'S REPORT, 1992

It is my pleasure to present this the 16th annual report for the Hawke's Bay Orienteering Club.

There have been many high points for the club this year. Let me now reflect on some of these.

The year started with our Twilight Summer Series on Thursday evenings, which seemed to provide the momentum for the rest of the year. We have had good support during the year for our OY series and Club events, including our inaugural Club Short O Championships at Esk. In addition there has been an array of social occasions.

We held another very successful live-in coaching weekend at Omatua and the latest brainwave of Ted Sapsford culminated in the Smedley Medley. This event appears to have been a major success in providing a challenge for those who wish to extend their physical and mental being to the limits. Apart from the obvious social aspects, these weekend events also provide an invaluable opportunity to exchange orienteering strategies and ideas.

It has been great to see an increase in numbers of Hawke's Bay orienteers attending away events this year, with some outstanding results. Well done to all of you and let's hope this continues in 1993.

I must of course take this opportunity to sincerely thank all those who have contributed to the successful organisation of club activities. We have once again reached our objective of holding an event every fortnight for ten months of the year and although total membership is down slightly, the club is in a very healthy state. I am always impressed by the dedication, loyalty and co-operative spirit that we all have. This is what makes our club a very special group and makes each event an enjoyable occasion for all concerned.

Special thanks go to the committee without whom there would be nothing; their enthusiasm and support have been much appreciated. Thanks also to all the course setters and helpers who took care of the caravan, collected controls and assisted with the smooth running of events.

I wish to thank all of the following:

- Our landowners. Their continued support and cooperation are essential to our survival as a club.
- Those involved in the organisation of the Macpac Kaweka Challenge which was a resounding success yet again; and to those already involved in next year's event - thanks and good luck.
- Brian Crawford, Peter Watson and Dave Fisher for the many hours spent on mapping, for without new maps we would eventually run out of places to hold events.
- Ted Sapsford for the inspiration and hard work that became "Smedley Medley".
- Dave Smith for his continued valuable contribution in the area of Kiwisport Orienteering.
- Bruce Perry for doing a great job again this year on recording results and ensuring that they are published in the local press.

Finally, thanks to every person who has braved the elements to participate in the events programmed, for without you there would be no use for maps or events, and without the supporting players, winning becomes a shallow achievement.

We have each achieved something this year and my wish for 1993 is that the club may continue to nurture all our members no matter what their abilities or strengths.

Rosalie Adlam

There is a time to run hard and a time to study the route. The successful orienteer knows when to give his brain a chance to save his legs.

"A Tenderfoot's Revenge"

After the suspense of more than six months' promises (threats) that my newcomer's status of exemption from course-setting duties was about to end, it was almost a relief to receive the summons from Rosalie.

"Te Mata Park, the end of August". Seemed O.K. - seven weeks away and home territory.

Having carefully (and sympathetically) absorbed the technical lessons learned by the Berrys on their debut as setters on the same map earlier in the year I spent the next few weeks seeking interesting control sites (shown on the map!) and alternative route choices. Given that most club members know this map as well as their own backyard this was a daunting task.

Longish courses were set, maps drawn, controls allocated, control descriptions written up, symbols checked, (found a new one : "between the cliffs") collect the caravan, etc. etc.

Due to the public nature of the map and the predilection of certain humans to "souvenir" unusual items such as orienteering paraphernalia, only a limited number of secluded controls could be set out on Saturday.

Despite an early start on Sunday, welcome assistance from Alan Berry was necessary to get those final few tasks done in time. Dave Fisher's supercilious advice was less welcome - I had forgotten to organise the most important ingredient, namely the weather.

Well it was a mite chilly and showery to boot. Some chose to stay home (beside the fire no doubt) and others from Waipukurau who will remain nameless offered the feeble excuse that the car had lost its doors!

Neil Mora's route choice from 1 to 2 showed lateral thinking and may just have let my brother Geoff pick up his 8 seconds winning margin. Derek Seow got most value for money.

Thanks to Geoff and Pam, Dave and the Berrys for their help afterwards.

The club's organisation works deceptively smoothly. You just turn up at the event around 10.30, have a pleasant run around in the sun rain, enjoy a leisurely lunch, perhaps collect a few controls and wander off home again. Everything is all on hand when you arrive, controls out, control descriptions prepared, blackboards written up, master maps taped to the tables, caravan all present and correct.

It is not until you get involved in setting a couple of courses that you realise it is a bit like the duck swimming upstream - a great deal of vigorous paddling is needed beneath the surface, to present a smooth and unflustered organisation on the day.

It took us four trips to Whirinaki to get everything organised to our liking. The recent thinning of the older trees at the west end of the map presented course setting problems that were not present at the last event, when that area presented an enclosed environment of tightly packed trees. It is now wide open, with patches of heavy trimmings.

There is one thing about setting a course though - point to any position on the Whirinaki map and we know exactly where it is. This knowledge should bring its own reward when next we run at Whirinaki!

The day of the event was fine but reasonably chilly, a marked improvement on when we were setting out the controls. Neil Mora gave notice of what we might expect from him in future by heading off all but Peter Watson on the A course. We were pleased to have a large group of Mountain Safety people with us, looking to improve their navigation skills as part of their overall training.

RE TIMELY ENTRY

I enjoyed Gwavas last year and was certainly looking forward to setting my first map there. As far as exotic forests go, Gwavas is attractive because the Douglas fir completely suppresses blackberry leaving us ferns of all shapes and sizes and an unnamed native plant. The SE part of the map has lovely little clearings, some marked, some not, some overgrown with ferns and vines and some with beautiful moss. Across the middle is a stream full of fight, bog ferns, blackberry and poplars - if only you had the time . . .

Stewart explained that the most important part was the E and F courses with caravan and park site. We tried the quarry first but the forest was just too dense. Next we tried the road junction, walked through the gate up the forestry road, turned right past the water tank round the bend and found a pig tunnel under the bracken and blackberry. The locals know best so we smashed our way over the top and under an archway into the deep, dark forest. This cleared track was to be the basis of all the courses - an obvious route choice. From here we followed the pig track to a hilltop down across the stream to the next hilltop, out onto the Gwavas road and back to where we started the F course and where we'd put the caravan, etc. It all just fell into place . . . great.

At Stewart's place a few days later I presented a 5km A course in the SE part. Stewart took a few of my ideas and constructively pointed out it had more dog legs than the Hastings pound. To get the distance we were forced to take the A course into another part of the map. There were only two corridors of unfelled trees, one for in and one for out. We gave them two gimmies to make sure they went in the right way, put 3 controls in there and one control to make sure they came out the right way because the felled area was impossible going. The control on the long earth bank was to make sure everyone went into the SE forest, hopefully through our secateured track, lovingly cleared of all blackberry. From there across the map. For the A course, Stewart's idea was to go right over to the north then hard east, back south, back west, crossing paths, then crossing again for two clearings just 80m apart with fight in between, to finish on. Most importantly, it would be no advantage to use the road in this part of the map. It seemed to be a good departure from the usual A course with three crossovers and changes of direction, short and long legs and those two at the end. 17 controls.

The B and C courses were taken out of this with one or two exceptions. We made sure they were all short enough because in the past the winning finishing times had been too long.

Back at Gwavas one re-entry we looked for was to be used by D, C & A courses. On the map it was shown as next to a major re-entry. There proved to be only one re-entry on the ground and again one on the map but unfortunately the map and the ground did not coincide, the two re-entries being 50m apart. We did not notice we were so far down, but stuck the control in, circled the map and moved on. We spent a good 8 hours and it's easy to see how hard it is for course setters and competitors with extra growth and mapping imperfections.

Being my first time and constantly learning from Stewart I thought it was just great crashing around this orienteers' nightmare. One point was I always wanted to hide the controls and in one case pleaded to put one in a pit. He wouldn't budge saying there was too much of this going on and if you arrive 20 metres from the control you should be able to see it.

The funny part of the day was when as Stewart said, "the philosophy with pits....." the ground gave way and Stu nearly disappeared, creating yet another pit. In the end we used the earth bank marked on the map only to find later that there were two earth banks close together, on the ground, not just one as shown on the map!

The day came. The weather though better than expected, was cold and grey. I got lost checking controls, ran out of time and came back and put tape out instead. The turnout was pleasing as we knew of a few who couldn't make it.

First think that happened was Neil Mora racing past the caravan. We had to wait hours to find out why. The F course worked well and congratulations to Ross Morrison, who went on to have a go at the E. Derek unfortunately didn't make a good note of the cleared track (wet map didn't help), and didn't connect on the way through, thus making his own, which might have cost him the race. Neil could have walked to the next control quicker than running around the road. Well done Peter, Eric, Catherine and all the rest. Our apologies to all those affected by that control those who mentioned it and to those spitting tacks and those two family groups. Please come back.

Thanks Stewart - I know the whole fascinating procedure now. Au revoir Gwavas, love it or hate it, more so now.

Peter Hill

SHORT-O Esk - 11 October 1992

As setter for this first club Short-O I was a little anxious about how much of the forest we would be able to use. I need not have worried. Although the hill on the Esk map has been clear felled, large portions of the flat area were still able to be used for such an event.

The weather for the preceding 10 days was not the best. However, on the day the usual Hawke's Bay sunshine shone through making for a very pleasant outing.

After arranging with Dave Fisher for the gate to the forest to be manned and notifying club members of an early start for the first of the two events, we were ready to go. The total times for the two events on the day were combined to give a finishing time.

The two events seemed to go well. The afternoon starts had the assistance of Bill Walch. There is slightly more work involved in organising this event than a normal club event but as usual, club members assisted to make this event run smoothly.

The emphasis was on easier orienteering in the forest. The afternoon courses to a large extent, were a reverse of the morning courses. Club members appeared to find no difficulty with these and all appeared to enjoy the shorter more intense courses. At normal O events, you might not see your fellow competitors during your event. The odds were considerably greater in these two events that you would come across your competitors in the forest.

Between the two events a very sociable lunch time session took place.

LOWER TL SCORE EVENT - 25 October 1992

Wasn't it a good idea to fill that void at Labour Weekend with an event! Expecting people to be absent at Nationals, holidaying, tramping, etc. etc. we decided to run a fun event. A form of handicapping was necessary, and after floating (very appropriate! - Ed.) various ideas, we finally settled on one.

After doing the necessary preliminary course-setting reconnaissance, we had our course set and spent Saturday night pre-marking maps as the rain tumbled down outside.

There was some improvement in the morning - it had stopped pouring and was now just raining. After much pacing around, swearing and cursing, we rang Rosalie to ask if we should cancel. "You can't do that, no cancellation from this fixtures officer," she said.

So it was 10.30 when we'd put the last control flag out, and Dave had towed a submerging van and caravan out of one of the dry watercourses. Amazingly there were about a dozen starters raring to go immediately, and after reading their instructions and promptly forgetting them, they headed for one hour of point collecting.

Memories of the event included the huge bow wave that Rosalie made as she aquaplaned up the middle of the course, Neil Lawrence finishing with a duck under each arm claiming extra points (they were only decoys), Mac & Ngaire Fisher deciding that swimming to the caravan was absurd, so jumped in their jet boat and disappeared, Derek Seow wondering why we had to set the course in a paddy field, Dave Fisher towing more people, and Derek Morrison snorkelling for no.24 in a depression. But when the smoke (or rain) had cleared, and the scores (& penalties) tallied, it was that canny gentleman Alan Berry that had out-thought the rest, burgled the booty and slipped passed the handicapper to win comfortably.

But seriously, we'd like to thank those twenty-one people who braved the conditions, and made it all worthwhile, and by various reactions afterwards, we think that the event could become a permanent annual fixture.

MANGARARA - OY6 - CLUB CHAMPS. - RED KIWIS CHALLENGE
8 November 1992

Holding the Club Champs, Interclub Challenge and OY6 on one event tended to make this course setter more thorough than usual. However, the unthinkable still happened and we placed a control in the wrong group of trees which wreaked havoc on the A & B courses. My apologies to those competitors.

Hopefully the long leg on these courses made up for the mistake as the route choices taken have been the topic of many post-mortems since.

While we only managed to win on one course (well done, Peter), our consistency and numbers gained us enough points to win the challenge this year.

Congratulations to all our club champions, especially Ross Morrison who looks set to push Dad in years to come, and thank you to the landowners for the use of their farms and woolshed.

SMEDLEY 21 November 1992

The Smedley Medley was the result of several comments or suggestions being thrown on to the back burner, stirred around a bit and finally being served up on November 20-21.

Early in the season the manager of Smedley Station, Jerry Jeromson, asked me "Why do you only use that little bit of the station at the front?" "How much more is there we can use?" was my reply. "Something over 8000 acres" was the answer. Information filed. A couple of weeks later Alan B was giving me the lowdown on the most recent committee meeting. General discussion had revealed an interest in a long O. Information filed.

Shortly afterward I drove out to Smedley and ascertained the boundaries of the Station. It was obvious then that the area had the potential for a really good long O. I prefer the long courses and enjoy setting them. As soon as the 2 course concept had proved feasible I put the idea to Rosalie, who with indecent haste, allocated me the date in November and suggested I got cracking.

I did not see the lack of a map as a problem as I have used Land and Survey maps enough to be able to identify a feature to within a few metres. The bigger the event the bigger the scale required, it is only a matter of perspective. Obvious features, obvious controls.

I calculated that it should only take about 7 or 8 days to check the control sites. As that Scots orienteer quoted - "The best laid plans of mice and men aft gang agley". Old Robbie described it in a nutshell.

The first day's tramp saw one control marked and about 6 additional vehicle tracks. Every time I walked over a hill there was always another unmapped track and a couple of dams waiting for me. To provide route choice between certain points, the tracks were critical, with the flow-on effect that if the tracks are right on one part of the race map they should be right everywhere else. The farm dams were a reasonable aid to navigation within the race area so I felt that they should also be as accurate as possible.

The second day field checking produced a similar result to the first, one more control site marked and several more tracks. Most of the tracks were well over a kilometre long and by the time I reached the end of one, another one started on the next hill or valley, with the result I usually walked quite some distance drafting those tracks and then had to turn round and retrace my steps.

The original estimate of 7 or 8 days somehow got extended to 17 days. To ascertain route alternatives I spent quite a lot of time clambering in and out of various creeks and gorges looking for the easy way through. Every large hill was climbed at least twice for various reasons. I regret that the low cloud denied the competitors the magnificent views I enjoyed. I will not attempt to calculate how many kilometres I tramped during my Smedley wanderings. It was a pleasure to explore the hills, valleys and streams of this delightful area.

On the Saturday of the actual event weekend, Wayne Lee organised and set several courses on the Smedley orienteering map. It was a rather damp day. Dave Fisher and I spent that day putting out the long O controls at the back of the station. Dave's little Suzuki goes most places quite cheerfully but various washouts and suchlike made sure that we put in the maximum footwork. By the time we got back to base at the shearers' quarters, we both felt as if we had walked the long course.

Saturday night at the Smedley shearers' quarters was a very convivial evening. Denise and Bill set the evening away with an excellent barbeque and mine hosts fed every hungry late comer. The contingent from Kapiti "Havoc" ensured that there were few dull moments. How Alan was able to concentrate on his crossword folio was a minor miracle. Peter, James and Emma did an excellent impression of bringing up father. Several others spent a lot of time studying "Onga Onga" topographical maps - I wonder if it helped. Initially I was a bit disappointed at the small number of entries. The camaraderie and atmosphere of the Saturday evening started to restore my perspective. It was a good group of people and there was the potential for some good racing.

Sunday was like Saturday - wet. The weather did not seem to worry anyone. Everyone fronted up to the start and subsequently vanished into the depths of Smedley Station. Several hours later the first Course 2 competitor arrived at the finish and they kept on coming in ones and twos. The stories they had to tell made good listening.

That which impressed me the most was the spirit of sportsmanship shown through the day. People who helped each other in the hills stayed together to finish together. The number of people who took part was small - the quality of that group was of the best.

My thanks to all who helped, before, during and after the event.

Ted Sapsford

"Does the road wind up-hill all the way?"
 "Yes, to the very end."
 "Will the day's journey take the whole long day?"
 "From morn to night, my friend."

With Mount Pinatubo providing the usual weather patterns we probably didn't achieve the usual end of year turnout. As it was christmas I tried to set something out of the ordinary and hence the all memory event and some unusual control sites.

It was difficult to judge how long it was going to take everyone but with the benefit of hindsight the score event was about right but the memory event too difficult. To solve this problem you could extend the time allowed to 80 minutes on the memory event, as opposed to 60 minutes on the score event.

From the feedback I received it seems that only the memory event should be offered but with a compulsory refreshment tent (including soft drinks) in the centre of the map and controls placed in a star shape around it. This would ensure all abilities are catered for and that it would be a true christmas event.

Only Stewart Hyslop and Caroline Watson finished within the 60 minutes with Kath Berry only 8 seconds overtime. The time penalty is calculated at the rate of  $\frac{1}{2}$  a control for every minute or part minute over the required finish time of 12.22.

My thanks to Bill Walch for his assistance in the caravan (and in the collection of controls) and to Eric Dunbar for collecting controls despite my lack of organisation in this respect and finally to Philip Mardon for towing the caravan home (yet again).

See you on January 22nd 1993 and with two family relay teams in the year 2005.

SHORT-O ESK (cont'd)

In general, everyone seemed to enjoy this type of event which has a more social flavour than our normal events. Our 1993 programme has three Short-O's and it is to be expected that club members will become quite proficient at competing in these type of events.

The highlight of the day was the smile on Wayne Lee's face as he finished the afternoon event with a very good time.

AWAY EVENTS

Hawke's Bay members are back on the road again and quite a number have been regular participants in events outside of the district. The Clipper Challenge trophy is awarded to the member who gains the most points in badge events, the joint winners this year being Derek Morrison and Peter Watson.

Of special merit were the performances of Peter Watson, who won the M35A grade at the Easter Four Day event in Wellington/Wairarapa and Geoff Morrison, who took out the Wellington district Short O championship last month with an amazing turn of speed that left the locals somewhat dumbfounded.

Clipper Challenge points for the year are set out below:

CENTRAL DISTRICT ORIENTEERING CHAMPIONSHIPS, 19-20 SEPTEMBER 1992

Individual Championships.

W45A	4.9km	Sharon Mardon	8th	68.21	Bronze
W55A	4.0km	Kath Berry	1st	72.51	Iron

M40A	7.9km	Derek Morrison	8th	69.27	Bronze
M55A	5.9km	Alan Berry	3rd	67.25	Gold

In case you are wondering how it is possible to come 1st in a grade yet only achieve an Iron badge performance the system works like this. The times of the first two contestants home in each class are averaged. Any competitors who get within 12.5% of this time are awarded Gold status, any who get within 25% achieve Silver, 37.5% Bronze and 50% Iron. If there are too few contestants in a grade, their times are mixed in with the next lower age group that ran the same course and the badge performances are calculated on the combined groups.

COURSE SETTING

Most of us get involved in setting courses as part of our contribution to the club's event programme. Over the next few issues of Compass Points we will deal with a few of the principles and some of the finer points on course setting just to refresh everyone's understanding of what it is all about.

This time we will look at control positions. The official manual provides:

- 1 Only features which are clearly defined, distinct from the surrounding terrain and which are marked accurately on the map should be chosen as control sites.
- 2 Controls shall be sited so that the competitor can locate them by application of good navigational techniques with an accuracy consistent with the scale of the map and the amount of detail shown near the control. When the competitor has accurately used the information available the control marker shall be clearly visible and immediately accessible.
- 3 Controls should be sited in such a way as to minimise the likelihood of a competitor gaining an advantage by observing departing competitors.
- 4 The control marker shall be visible from all directions unless the control description indicates otherwise.
- 5 Controls shall not be positioned in similar features within 50m of each other.
- 6 The control marker shall be hung in the middle of the feature unless the description indicates otherwise.
- 7 The size of the feature shall be given in the description if it is not apparent from the map and is not a piece of general knowledge. Thus the size of a boulder, boundary stone, marsh smaller than 15m or small cliff shall be indicated, whereas the size of a spring, trig station or ruin does not need to be given.
- 8 It is also important to describe the control site accurately and the relationship of the control itself to the site.

Edge: site on the border of an area (e.g. Marsh, E edge), or on the border of, as opposed to 'in' a pit, (Gravel pit, W edge)

Corner: where the edge of the feature, turns through an angle of 45-165degrees (field, E corner)

Tip: where the edge of the feature or the feature turns through an angle less than 45 degrees (marsh, N tip)

Bend: site actually at the bend shown by the linear symbol on the map (track bend)

Part: site in the middle of a distinct section of an area. The marker should be visible from a distance of at least half the radius of the part viewed from any direction. (marsh, W part)

Side: site beside a feature which rises above the surface of the earth i.e. a boulder, building, etc. (boulder W side)

Foot: site on the foot line of a contour feature where the slope becomes horizontal (hill, E foot)

End: at the end of a linear feature (ride end), or at some other distinct terminal point (cliff foot, E end)

Junction: where linear features cross (path ride crossing)

Diameter: distance across.

CONGRATULATIONS to Pim de Monchy on his magnificent effort in the Tararua Mountain race last month. With his partner Tony Henry, Pim completed the 45km in 5 hours 16.05, just 4 seconds outside the race record. Pim was a member of the Club until OE and study took him outside the district but we were very pleased to have him back with us for the Smedley Long O. Pim is now looking forward to the Macpac Kaweka Challenge and if his performances in the Tararua and Smedley events are anything to go by, he will certainly give some of the big names a fair hurry up.

Orienteering is all about intelligent movement; a crossword puzzle for the mind to solve while the lungs and legs exercise.

I fool
feelish...

I had 12 bottles of whisky in my cellar, but one day my wife told me to empty the contents of each and every one down the sink - or else!

So I promised I would and proceeded with the unpleasant task.

I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and threw the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass which I drank, I pulled the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, again with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I extracted the cork from the third bottle and poured the whisky down the sink, which I drank. I extracted the cork from the fourth bottle down the sink, poured the bottle from the cork of the next, and drank one sink out of it, and threw the next down the glass. I pulled the sink out of the next glass and poured the cork down the bottle. Then I corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour.

When I had everything emptied, I steadied the house with one hand and counted the glasses, corks, bottles and sinks of which there were 29, with the other hand. As the house came by I counted them again and finally had all the houses in one bottle, which I drank.

I'm not under the affluence of alcohol, but some think I am. I'm not half so drunk as you might think. I fool so feelish. I don't know who is me, and the drunker I stand here the longer I get .....
