President's Report

It's been a good couple of months of orienteering. The Summer Series was well supported with our average attendance at over 100 without counting doubles. They are pretty hectic and stressful for the setters and vettors but easy to set and a good starting point for learners to grasp the basics of orienteering.

From here we have moved into the country for some more traditional orienteering. Few would argue there isn't much better scenery than Smedley with its native bush and gorges. The OY series kicked off here and, looking at the results from here and Maraetotara, this could be a hotly contested competition.

HB was well represented at the NZ Champs in Counties Manakau with three Elite titles being won by Amber, Penny and Ross along with a number of age group and B podium finishers. This all meant we took out the Top Junior Club award and the Overall Club award. To top it off we also won both the relay titles comfortably.

Part of the reason we are the top club in NZ is the tremendous pride in our club and this spirit shows through in the supportive nature of our members. Other clubs watch with envy at the cheering and encouragement we give our fellow clubmates.

This spirit shows through in our Juniors very strongly. About 90 of our Juniors attended the North Island Secondary School Champs a couple of weeks ago in New Plymouth. As expected they came home with both the Top School trophies as well as a number of relay and individual placings. The rivalry shown during the relays was great and even better was all the schools mixing in for a game of soccer afterwards.

Other sports and sportsmen could learn a bit from us. Well done all you kids and a big thank you to all those parents and teachers who put the effort in to get them there.

It's a busy time of the year now with all the focus on school events. Please if you can help, let us know – there are a lot of quite simple jobs that can be done and it's disappointing to have to ask people because of lack of volunteers.

I'd like to encourage members to make the effort to attend the Queens Birthday events up the coast from Wellington. Sand dune forest is some of the more challenging terrain you can orienteer on and although not as physically demanding as hills I find it more rewarding to achieve on. Added to this we are hoping to send two 12-person school teams and they need all the support we can give them.

Some good news is the selections for NZ teams by some of our members. Amber and Ross have been selected for the World Champs and Amber, Jack and Kate(reserve) have been selected for the Junior World Champs. We wish them well .

We have had a small problem with compasses lately. Two are missing. We are happy to lend compasses to club members to do their courses. When borrowing a compass you must make sure it is recorded on the registration sheet and, when you return it, make sure it is marked off. We do not want to charge a fee for hiring them out but we cannot withstand the expense of unaccountable losses.

All the club gear is owned by you, the members. Please treat it this way. If it is lost or damaged we all pay for it.

Last word – have you all checked out the brilliant job Pamela is doing on the website? Need information – go there!

Hamish.

QB3-day and Inter-Regional Schools Challenge

In conjunction with QB2007 there will be an Inter-Regional Schools Challenge. This will be open to official representative teams from the different regions - as a guide if your area has a rugby team in the Air New Zealand Cup (e.g. Taranaki, Hawkes Bay, Bay of Plenty, Counties etc.) you are a "region". Teams will consist of 3 Senior Boys, 3 Senior Girls, 3 Junior Boys and 3 Junior Girls. Partial teams are permitted as are combined teams from adjacent regions which cannot field full teams. Individual school teams are not permitted unless the entire team from a region comes from one school. For the purposes of this event Senior and Junior are defined as for the Australian Schools Champs: Senior is 16 and over, Junior is 15 and under. Senior grades will run M/W18 courses, Junior grades will run M/W16 courses. For the Inter-Regional Schools Challenge the final event on Monday 4th June will be a relay.

Students selected for a team should enter QB2007 as individuals. Team co-ordinators should notify the organisers of the composition of their team by the closing date. In each grade the 2 fastest finishers from each region will count with their combined time counting as the team time. Awards will be made for individual placings in the first 3 events and team placings in the relay.

Map cards for sale

The club is offering pre-paid map cards for the first time, this year. These will be for sale at Registration at events.

The card will be valid for 5 events and will cost $24 for individuals or $63 for families. This gives you a saving of $1 or $2, respectively, over the 5 events and will help speed up the registration process at events.

To redeem the card, bring it along to your next event, present it at Registration and receive your maps in exchange - all done!

If you have trouble finding cash before an event, then the map card will solve your problem and it could even make a suitable gift for a hard to buy for person!

Estimating Course Lengths

One of the things a course setter has to do is work-out the course lengths, in kilometres. The OY and club championship events have an "Estimated winner's time" (EWT), in minutes, set by the committee and published in the annual Preview pamphlet.

The EWT for courses in 2007 are:

Course	O.Y Series EWT (minutes)	HBOC Champs EWT (minutes)
Notes
Red Long	70	70
Red Medium	50	50
Red Short	40	40
Orange & Orange Long	45	45
Orange Short	Not used in an OY.	40
Yellow	35	35
White	25	25 Median time, not EWT

So how do you convert EWT minutes into a course length in km?

(The following notes are aimed at HBOC OY and Club Championship events, but can apply to any standard orienteering course. Remember, as you read the rest of this, that we are talking about an "estimated" time and are only trying to get an approximate course length. There is the "official" method, and there are a few variations using percentages, experience and gut feeling.)

Firstly, the "official" method, which just happens to be the hardest, involves:

- I. Getting the results of previous events on the map from Compass Points magazine. (Results may also be available on the club website or from your old emails.)
- II. Looking at the winners' times.
 - If they are close to the EWT figures above then your course lengths can be similar.
 - If they are not close to the EWT figures then, for each course, you need to calculate the winner's run rate (winner's time in minutes/course length in km) and then use the run rate figure to calculate the optimum length ($\text{length(km)} = \text{EWT} / \text{winner's runrate}$).
- III. Looking at the climb for each course. Shorten(lengthen) your courses if you have more(less) climb. By how much? (One story has it that 1m of climb is equivalent to 10m distance.)
- IV. Checking around the club to see if any "gun" orienteers are coming to the event, or conversely, will the local "guns" be away. Probably only applies if HBOC are holding a regional event (eg) a WOA OY. Shorten(lengthen) your courses if the "guns" are away(coming). By how much? (I suggest you pretend you didn't see this step.)

Now, the "alternative" methods:

- I. The NZOF recommends to setters of major events that they use the "official" method above only for the elite courses. All other course lengths are calculated as a percentage of the elite course length. The percentages to be used for each course are published by the NZOF.

This doesn't work so well for clubs, where the number of courses is less and there can be a large range of skills on a course.

- I. This is under development and hopefully will be available on the club website soon.
All the hard work calculating the winners' run rates and likely course lengths (minimum, maximum and average) has been done in a spreadsheet.
You can then:
- lookup the estimated distances for your map and courses
 - Use the minimum, maximum or average figures as an estimate, depending on how demanding you think your courses might be compared to previous courses.

Problems:

- I. It's a new map! Find a similar existing map to get some possible lengths, then make an educated guess. Talk to the mappers and fieldcheckers.
- II. Major changes to the map since the last event! You need to guess how much faster(slower) a runner would be, as a rough percentage figure, and apply that to the numbers.

Answering the Kaweka Challenge

As I followed the last competitors down from the Kaweka J checkpoint last year, as I had done for the 9 previous years, I resolved that in 2007 I must actually run the race myself and discover why it is, when I greet the finishers on the second day, they are all so wet and muddy as well as looking radiantly happy! So I entered for Course 3.

It was a wet, cool day for the 19th Challenge, good conditions for the long plod up Kuripapango hill, but as we neared the tops the weather really closed in and the temperature dropped. Having persuaded George Christison, who held the record for Course 1 jointly with Chris Morrissey, that this would be the year to go for a new record on his own, I was desperately worried that if conditions got too bad up top the crew at Kaweka J would shorten the course and put paid to George's attempt. I was greatly relieved on reaching the Studholme checkpoint to hear that Course 1 runners had NOT been diverted. Talking to the J crew later I heard how truly marginal conditions had been, and was even more pleased that I had given up my post there for a more active role in the event.

It was disappointing to be totally enveloped by mist up on Kaiarahi, and I felt sorry for those from outside Hawke's Bay who had been attracted to the race by the promise of "magnificent views". One just had to use one's imagination! Descending McIntosh Spur was harder than usual with last winter's devastating snow damage still evident amongst the contorta, although DOC had done a sterling job clearing the track as best they could.

The section from Lakes to the finish was of course a mystery to me as a first-timer and it was there that I discovered the source of the mud and understood why "setting up the ropes" had always been an item on the committee's job list. I also discovered that you need a reserve of energy to get you up the first firebreak and it seemed a long way from there through to the road. I had said optimistically to Doug Matheson the controller that I hoped to be home in time for prizegiving, in case he wanted me to make a speech and when it was obvious that my calculations were slightly out I sent a message through from the Lakes checkpoint.

What a thrill when finally you ARE out on the road and there is just that 300 metres of blessedly downhill running to go. And I hope I did look radiantly happy, as well as wet and muddy as I crossed the line! Next day, back shaking hands and giving hugs to wet, muddy bodies, I felt so glad that I now understood the magic of the Kaweka Challenge, and why people come back year after year. I think they might have to do without me up at the J again next year!

And yes, George did break his record on Course 1. Amber Morrison was less than a minute outside the record for the ladies' 28km course 3. Todd Oates was a winner on the two-day course 4. And as usual HBOC members had a great showing on the 13km course with Ross Morrison, Rachel Goodwin, Pauline Klay and Jaime Goodwin all coming home first in their sections. I was thrilled with my prize in the supervet class.

Thank you again to those members of the club who helped the committee run another highly successful event, with numbers well up on 2006. With more orienteers keen to compete themselves, and I now totally understand that compulsion, it is getting harder to find enough personnel. Please think about helping next year as the Challenge does raise significant funds for our Club. It is very rewarding being part of it all and seeing so many people from all over the country, and a few from other countries, enjoying themselves in our very special Kaweka ranges.

Go-for-12 Adventure Race

Club members also featured prominently in the recent Go-for-12 Youth Adventure Race. The inaugural race was held last year and this one was a national event with coverage by film cameras. I again set the orienteering course on the Gruinard (Rochfort) map and it was very exciting to watch the 24 teams of 4, who came from as far away as Whakatane, tackle the various challenges. Fastest on the orienteering course, which could be tackled either on foot or on mountain bikes, was the Karamu High team, led by veteran club members Scott McDonald and Rory Hart. With Nicole Symon and Tom Wilson they won the mixed section, greatly improving on their 4th placing last year. This event is all about team work, and when the pedal falls off your mountain bike you are reliant on help from your team mates! This happened to the Havelock North High team, led by Jack Vincent, and they had to conquer the heights of Kahuranaki with the disabled bike being towed up and down. Orienteering skills helped Napier Girls' High, led by Avril Turvey with Rachel Miller, Madeline Driver and Kim Dodd, win the girls' section, with Havelock North (Lydia Parker, Chloe Gregory, Anna Fuhrer and Bianca Saathof) not far behind them in 2nd place. And while facing all the various challenges, on land and river, including archery and a tough ropes course, each team had to carry an egg! It was so rewarding to see all these young ones, not all experienced in outdoor activities, working together and all looking as if they were thoroughly enjoying it all. Congratulations to all those who took part.

How to make a map — The Slump

There are no mysteries to being a map maker, just an urge to explore new areas and an eye for detail. It's a bit later on when you start having strange discussions about the colour yellow, debating that an earthbank is really a cliff or getting out a ruler and checking scale bars on other maps, that you know you have become a map maker.

"The Slump" area was originally discovered by Stewart Hyslop while looking at aerial photographs, some time in 1990. (That's normal behaviour for him, he's a photogrammetrist.) He then looked up the area on a DOSLI 1:50,000 scale map with 20m contours. (You want to see very few contours) Satisfied that the area wasn't too steep and was accessible, he then found who the landowners were and started telling everybody else about it. This then led to a small group going out to visit the area in January 1991. They checked the runnability and decided on the boundaries of the area to be mapped. Having found the area, talked to the landowners, visited and checked the runnability, decided on the boundaries and thinking it was ok for orienteering, it now became an area to be mapped. So we got a quote from Stewart for the photogrammetry, this included fees for the use of aerial photographs, and asked the committee to give the go-ahead to spend the money. (There was an added complication — this area had to be checked by the NZOF as it was due to be first used for an international event, APOC, in January 1994.) The map was approved in May 1991, Stewart given the green light and volunteers called for to do the fieldwork and cartography. (Brian Crawford, David Fisher and Peter Watson did the fieldwork, while Brian also did the cartography.)

The photogrammetry from Stewart shows all the orienteering features, as seen on the aerial photographs, (which were 5 years old), on one large sheet at scale 1:7,500 with 5m contours. He cannot draw anything hidden by clouds or under trees. He does show contours under forest, but he is tracing what he sees at treetop level, lowered to where he thinks ground level might be. Luckily the aerial photos were taken before the forest was planted.

Once the photogrammetry was completed, in March 1992, the fieldwork started. A4 colour photocopies were made of the photogrammetry and taped down onto boards with blank drawing paper on top. Then the fieldworkers headed out and area by area checked everything, drawing changes onto the blank sheets. When an area was completed the corrections were traced back onto the original photogrammetry by the cartographer. (The corrections and the original photogrammetry would normally be traced onto a new master copy. I'm not sure why we did it back onto the original.) This fieldwork took three people 275 hours, between March 1992 and April 1993. (The corrections are drawn in coloured drawing pencils with fine leads, no smudges allowed, so you cannot fieldwork in rain, strong wind.)

Because this was before computerised map making, there was an extra step or two. Separate master sheets for each colour, and fences, had to be traced from the corrected photogrammetry. Great care had to be taken to ensure all five of these sheets lined-up perfectly. These sheets were then given to the printer to prepare the printing plates and print the map on an offset printer. The club had to guess how many maps to print, with and without fences. (I'm not sure how many were printed, possibly 2,000 of each.)

The map was first used in January 1994 for an APOC event. Several months before the event the landowners felled a lot of trees and realigned some farm roads and fences. Luckily the changes were on the edge of the map and didn't affect any courses. A gang of club members had to hack a new track to the start through fallen trees and blackberry.

In 2006 the club decided to re-map "The Slump". It was still a good area for orienteering and old preprinted map stocks were running low. The old photogrammetry was dug out of storage and contracts called for the refieldwork and cartography of the entire area. This time the cartography was to be by computer, using the OCAD mapping program. Geoff Morrison did the fieldwork in two stages, mid 2006 and early 2007 and Alan Berry did the cartography. The fieldwork was just as involved as the first time, but this time the photogrammetry had the old corrections on it, which didn't prove to be very helpful. The cartography involved scanning the fieldwork and then tracing it on computer using the OCAD mapping program. (You don't produce separate sheets, but you do have to use great care to make sure each scan lines-up with the previous one.) We now can print maps as required on colour laser printers, and easily make corrections as changes happen.. The small downside is that we have to create "new" maps from the large base map, for every event, depending on which part of the map is being used.

The hand drawn map was first used for the ANZ Challenge event as part of APOC in January 1994, and for an NZOF badge event in October 1996. The APOC event centre and finish were at the Ngaroto woolshed. The start area was approximately 15mins walk across a large gully, with most of the mapped area hidden by the large pine trees in the gully. However, the pine trees were felled 2 months before the event. Chainsaws were required to open up a track through the gully. Luckily most of the uniqueness of the area was hidden until after the runners started. The APOC event was run in very hot conditions (ie) 30 degrees C or more.

The area of the map was formed approximately 950 years ago (1000 AD) when the area slumped, forming the unusual terrain of knolls and depressions. The date has been established from carbon dating and counting the rings in the large trees that were buried by the slump.

It was a still, hot, humid night so of course the air conditioning unit was broken down again. The fan just pushed more hot air around my office quicker, and sounded like a car running on two and a half cylinders. The mountain of paper work nearly reached the top of my desk lamp and was inviting to me as 10000 mad killer bees in my pants. There was a knock on my door and in she walked a beautiful blonde, in a slightly distressed state. She said she had a job for me. Something about a mysterious cult of moon worshipers who gathered at a secret location (once a year), always different each time. My research was scratchy; the information was very vague, so with not really having any idea what I was letting myself in for we headed off to this year's secret location. The road was long and winding, one bend blending into another, with yet another hill behind us. Our directions led us further into the hills onto smaller and smaller roads until we came across a gigantic steam breathing monster, its arms of steel withering across the country side. We evaded it by turning right but one arm continued to follow us further into oblivion. Suddenly a young man on a bike appeared from out of nowhere, he seemed to be expecting us, and pointed for us to keep traveling on. We soon came to the end of the track to be greeted by a man called Trevor Carswell sitting beside a tent in the middle of nowhere he told us to pick a spot and set up? Was he the leader of this cult? We picked our spot and were soon set up as more crazed followers of this cult turned up. A scary looking bunch from all over the North Island-but the scariest group were the HBOs I will not mention the full name as some grown men cower at the mention of their name. My client who had come on this investigation with me now produced the sacred robes we had to wear for the night rituals, gaudy they were bright, so very bright. The final insult was having pink paint sprayed into our hair. The HBs were very much into this practice and even had a green black white and orange mobile chapel. Suddenly a new man appeared, like a pied piper everyone was drawn to him and hung on his every word. Arms waved and heads turned and nodded, still; I was none the wiser. Then to my horror they gathered all the young devotees. I could not believe they would sacrifice the children. They all looked so happy eager even to go to the marker. A shot rang out and bodies scattered everywhere forging to out run the carnage, sending those left behind into a frenzy yelling and screaming with blood and lust. Suddenly all went quiet and we were directed to our own chapels. Time passed then out of the gloom buddies started to appear –some of the children had survived and found their way back to us. This made the older devotees very happy so they yelled and screamed and made all manner of loud noises. As the first returnees came in other devotees headed out in their place. Was it for sacrifice or enlightenment? Some got it-heads were aglow my client headed out quiet and somber would she also return be brain washed into a new devotee. No she seemed normal all too soon the moment arrived I followed instructions, received the secret handshake from another crazed HBO zealot and headed into another small chapel where everything I needed to find myself would be revealed. A map? Circles numbers lines between them and some hieroglyphics on one side there was only one thing for it, to head out and find myself. I did, apart from one of the steel arms and a rabid opossum and lots of crazed zealots wondering around mindlessly all over the country side. I returned to our HBO chapel none the wiser as to what it was all about. This continued well into the small hours we retired to our set up waking to a mysterious misty morning. Many devotees stumbled about mindlessly with vacant eyes mumbling about missing something or finding it.

Then out of the mist came the pied piper's voice, heads turned bodies followed, what was his charm, his hold over these moon worshipers he spoke to them, they listened, they cheered, they clapped, he called some to come forward to receive sacred religious icons. The HBOs were rewarded for being the most crazed devotees of moon worshipers. But the only one who seemed to get it was Trevor he found the "tree" and spent some time "out to it" in the moonlight. He received the highest accolade. I never saw the tree I must of walked right past it, I mean run. Then we got a call another blonde needed me. So it was back to the office a shower clean clothes and the real world. It scares me that I heard they will be doing it all again next year at another secret location. One thing I did find out about the pied piper (whether its true or not no one knows) Jimmy the Lewd.

Meet the two JWOC representatives from Hawke's Bay

Congratulations to the two HBOC members who have recently been selected to represent New Zealand at the 2007 Junior World Orienteering Championships (JWOC). These championships are being held in the southern hemisphere for the first time and will take place in Australia in July.

Meet the two JWOC representatives from HB . . .

Jack Vincent, is currently a Year 13 student at Havelock North High School. He has previously represented NZ at school level, with his best result being a victory in Junior Boys at the 2004 Australian School Championships. Jack is pictured here at the recent North Island secondary school champs where he 'did the treble', winning the senior boys' individual title, with Louis Chambers winning the inaugural NISS rogaine title and with Nick Holder and Louis winning the senior boys' relay.

Kate Morrison, originally named as a non-traveling reserve is now in the team. They are difficult circumstances for the family as Kate replaces older sister Amber who was originally selected but has had to withdraw with injury. Kate competed for the NZ secondary school team last year. She is also pictured at NISS champs in New Plymouth, finishing her senior girls' championship run in fifth place.

Amber competed at the 2006 JWOC in Lithuania where her best placing was 14th in the sprint event. She is currently in her second year of study at Victoria University.

Derek Morrison will manage the team.

Nationals Report

Counties Manakau held the 2007 Nationals in South Auckland over Easter. 44 Hawke's Bay members trekked northwards for four days of competition.

The Sprint event was held on Good Friday at the Auckland Botanic Gardens. Being a public park, runners had to contend with lots of people out for an afternoon stroll, but navigating around a wedding party and pushchairs didn't seem to slow people down too much. Best win of the day was Amber Morrison in W21E. Other HB winners were Cara McDonald (W18), Pamela Morrison (W40), Duncan Morrison (M16), Alan Berry (M70) and Sean Morrison (M10).

On Saturday racing for the Middle Distance was at Waiuku Forest South. The forest floor was generally 'rubbishy' and did not lend itself to easy running. HB winners were Penny Kane (W21E), Cara (W18A), Rolf Boswell (M35A), Jay Barrett (M14A), Dave Fisher (M21AS), Tim Anderson (M40B), Rosina Millman (W16B), and Naomi Anderson (W12B) – plus five second placings and four 3rd placings.

The Long Distance event was held on a new map, Plantation Farm. Easy running forest was made easier for Red course runners by the inclusion of fences, a decision which provided a hot topic of conversation afterwards. Ross Morrison took out his first M21E Long Distance title with other HB winners being Pamela (W40A), Jay (M14A), Jaime Goodwin (W16A), Sarah (W16B) and Naomi (W12B). The win by Pamela was the first win by a HB woman in an A grade Long Distance event at the Nationals for as long as anyone can remember – does anyone know if we've ever won a title before? HB also managed seven 2nd placings and seven 3rd spots.

The prizegiving and dinner was held at Wesley College on the Sunday night. Counties Manakau changed the prizegiving format by having the prizegivings for the Sprint and Middle distances straight after each of the events. This meant Sunday prizegiving was much shorter than normal with only the NZOF awards and the Long Distance events being recognised on the night. Most people regarded this as an improvement. However CM's attempt to hold a disco afterwards fell rather flat, as most orienteers seemed more intent on talking rather than dancing, and people drifted off as the relays were still to come the next day.

The relays were back at a different part of Waiuku Forest. A change in format for 2007 meant all teams had to contain a female and the question was, could HB retain the Long relay they had won for the past two years. Previous team-mates Ross Morrison and Scott McDonald were joined by Amber Morrison and although it was close, in the end HB beat North West by two minutes. In another repeat of last year HB also won the Short relay with Jaime Goodwin, Craig Sceats and Jay Barrett beating PAPO by a whopping 13 minutes.

Coaching Corner

Handrailing

At the coaching refresher course in Auckland, there was a discussion on what is looked for when preparing for a leg. Darren Ashmore had been at a coaching session run by Warren Key, former Australian élite coach and élite national champion and, discussing this point, he apparently looks for lines leading to the control such as contours, vegetation, and other handrails we more associate with white and yellow courses. These could be a line of knolls, or boulders or ficht or the like.

Armchair exercise: Take out a map of an old course, and see if you can pick out a line of features leading to each control and see how you can make it easier for yourself.

Coaching Day

It was a very successful day out at Maraetotara with 29 participants. We were lucky that Penny Kane and Jamie Stewart came down from Gisborne for the weekend and were able to contribute to the day.

I really enjoyed the simplification exercise where, as opposed to getting a map and drawing a course on it, you got the course and drew on it what you needed from the map. I was able to see the thought patterns of the participants. The difference between the various levels of orienteers was remarkable, with the better ones drawing less! But of course they drew everything they needed and would use.

We also did a compass exercise which some found difficult, but it is a facet of orienteering that most people need to work hard on.

Jamie set up a mass starting situation with split controls, where groups of 4 started together and would meet at every second control which was common.

Coaching Seminar

In April after the nationals, I was fortunate enough to go to a coaching seminar run by Darren Ashmore, NZOF coaching co-ordinator. Though a little reticent about attending (I've been to similar things before), I thought I should, seeing that our club is reasonably successful in this department. I am glad I did, for there was a tremendous quality about the attendees. It was great to bounce ideas off each other and Darren's decision to get onto maps and try exercises in a practical way was great.

Geoff

Have you visited www.hborienteering.com lately?

This is our club website and if you haven't visited recently, then have a look. This is the place where you'll find all the latest information on what is happening in the club – news, results and latest event information.

If someone new wants to find out about the club or the sport, then direct them to the club website – there is information there for new members, the latest fixture information and a map of our event locations.

Volunteer of the Month March — Tim Anderson

Tim is our Volunteer of the Month for March for his work on the Kaweka Challenge. He tells the story that he was amazed at how cheap the Hawke's Bay School Training Camp was for Sarah and discovered it was subsidised by funds raised by the club by helping to run the Kaweka Challenge. He became involved as what he calls a 'dogsbody' which included re-developing the event website so that it works better for competitors.

Tim's work in introducing the pupils at St Matthew's School to orienteering is also acknowledged . . . and he has been one of Derek's helpers on the Napier Girls' and Boys' High Schools trips to school North Islands and nationals. With Derek managing the New Zealand team to JWOC in July, Tim will become the 'main man' looking after the Napier Girls' team at nationals in Christchurch.

How long have you been involved with orienteering?

About three years.

How did you get involved with orienteering?

Through Sarah, taking her to events and going on the high school trips.

What courses do you usually run?

Red short this year. I've turned red into very long. It's been fun running the same courses as Sarah and being able to go over them afterwards.

What do you enjoy about orienteering?

I enjoy bringing kids and seeing their enjoyment. And getting kids independent by themselves. It's great to get out and see some wonderful parts of Hawke's Bay. The club itself — there are such nice people. I've had so many cups of tea with Stewart Hyslop. I like the way the club looks after the kids.

If we met you during the week, what would you be doing?

Volunteer of the Month

April — Murray Richardson

Another of our club members fostering school age orienteers is April's Volunteer of the Month Murray Richardson.

Murray has been bringing Lindisfarne boys along to practices and events and building up that core group that any team needs around the experienced ones like Sam Eames and Brett Sceats.

Murray is always positive and helpful — really helpful for the Havelock North High orienteers at the North Island Rogaine. When Lucy Moore broke her arm on a rock crossing the river, Gail Gregory went with her to New Plymouth A & E, where they stayed — as is the way with A & E — for some hours, leaving a van-load of Havelock rogainers stranded in the wilds of Mangamahoe waiting for Gail to come back. It was Murray who came to the rescue, suggesting that the girls might like to climb into the Lindisfarne van with his boys and enjoy a lift back to Sacred Heart. They would and they did.

How long have you been orienteering?

Two years

How did you get involved in orienteering?

Jo Eames and Geoff Morrison volunteered to introduce orienteering at Lindisfarne as an activity for our 'clubs' time. The school asked me to help out and Geoff very quickly had me hooked!!

What do you remember about your first event?

My first 'real' event was a yellow at Arborfield. It had rained all weekend — so the course was slippery from pine trimmings and incredibly muddy. It was fantastic and I couldn't wait for the next event.

What course do you usually run?

What do you enjoy about orienteering?

Seeing country that you wouldn't normally see. The great people with their dry humour. The challenge of, finally, finding your way around each course and discovering what is over that hill!!

If we met you during the week, what would you be doing / what's your job?

I teach senior mathematics at Lindisfarne College during the day and I am also in charge of the junior hostels.

Eye in the sky By the magpie

- Smedley was very much a foreign event. We had entrants from the Czech Republic, Germany, Denmark, Brazil, Zimbabwe and Japan. There was sure to have been the odd person from the home countries there as well.
- Jo Eames team in the 6 hour adventure race were going quite well until the orienteers in the team navigated them into oblivion. With Jon and Jo in the team, fellow team-members were totally reliant on these 'experts'. I guess they are the ones that have to live it down!
- One Havelock North HS team taking part in the NISS rogaine had light problems. So much so, that they ended up having to read their map using a cellphone light.
- Jamie B-W was heading along Highway 50 to an ATC event, saw the sign for orienteering at Smedley and decided that looked more encouraging.
- Hamish G has done it again! Fallen off his bike. More stitches, more damage, but he is back, like an Indian rubber man. He was somewhere up Puketitiri, so had to pick himself up and gingerly get himself back to his car, some distance away.
- Speaking of bikes, Stewart Hyslop has purchased a beautiful state of the art new bicycle, a lifelong ambition. Rumour has it is that he is going to get cycling lessons from that Raukawa legend, Hamish G. But after this magpie report, one would suggest he look elsewhere.
- One person who should stick to a bike is Duncan M. A piece of advice, don't let him shift your car!
- Ruth's shorts are steadily gaining national notoriety. It seems the least person worried about them is the wearer. Magpie reckons they looked good, with the traditional markings of HB and of the magpie for all to see.
- How's this for efficiency? Saturday morning: James Thompson, the setter at Guthrie Smith, went from Napier to Tutira, put out 52 controls then drove back to Napier, had a shower and was at work by 10.00am to see his first patient. Beat that!
- Tony Haslett volunteered to take the caravan to Tutira for the Guthrie Smith event. The only problem when he arrived was that he'd forgotten to bring the key. After much mulling, Geoff arrived and then proceeded to use as much finesse as a 'bull in a china shop' and ripped the window open. Rumour has it that he's done this before.
- The farmer at Maraetotara was doing a good deed, shifting the controls to save them from stock damage. He did put them back in the right place, but unfortunately he didn't realise the significance of the numbers on the controls.

Windsor Park Report — Summer Series #6

Wednesday 7 March 2007

Over the last few years it seems the McDonald's have had responsibility for any summer series event run on the Windsor map. This year I volunteered to be the setter. Scott was to be the vetter but as Rob was unable to run because of back problems, he became vetter so Scott could have a run.

I had thought about the courses in the holidays and had decided to start at Karamu High and make more use of the school. It did mean that the first two loops were quite short and the last loop quite long, but running around buildings is always tricky and I hoped basing it more around Karamu would be more challenging than the open spaces of Windsor Park. Planning a white course without crossing the rather busy road to Windsor Park meant a fairly basic 'follow the fence' course, but there was nothing else to do without getting away from what a white course should be.

The evening was lovely, numbers seemed similar to other summer series events and winning times were fast. Loop runners had to look carefully at their maps, with a lot of controls in a small area around Karamu, but most seemed to cope. I had tried to offer some route choice on Loop C so I was pleased to hear that there were people who ran the roads rather than everyone following the creek through the middle of the park.

On 'home territory' Scott McDonald made it 6 out of 6 in the summer series, nearly three minutes clear of Hamish Goodwin. Jack Vincent would have had a good time if he had not missed #16 first time round and Rory Hart, also on 'home territory' would have been up there if he had read his map correctly and hadn't clipped one white control by mistake.

Thanks to Rob for vetting and for working hard all evening; to Scott, Chris and Emil for helping set up, manning the caravan, checking clipcards and collecting controls; to the Mitchell family for their help in the caravan; to Ruth Vincent for coming to my rescue when I was snowed under at the finish and to Pam and Kate Morrison for checking clipcards.

And after stopping for pizza for tea, we only missed the first ten minutes of 'Lost'!!!

Havelock Village Report — Summer Series #7

Wednesday 14 March 2007

Two weeks before my course, after dreadfully being photographed and put in the Hawke's Bay newspaper, Geoff gave me the village map I was to use for my event. At the start, I couldn't believe that that was the actual map, as I had never seen it before, but then I was relieved when I realised how lucky I was that I wouldn't be running through the village all red-faced and being gawked at, so how much fun I would therefore have setting it.

Anyway, after giving dad the map to photocopy, and then going from one map to four, plus about twenty blown-up parts of the map, I was ready to begin . . . I ended up with two concepts, one a reasonably long one and one, quite the opposite, was very short. After a late-night visit to Geoff's house, the new medium length course was set along with the white.

I woke up Wednesday morning and thought to myself, "gosh, what a lovely day" but by 4 o'clock my thoughts were more "man, do I really have to do this and go outside". I met Geoff in the thickest raincoat-resembling thing we had, as funnily enough, no-one in our family owns a proper one, and for an hour we walked around the village looking like a cross between a drowned rat and like totally insane person, for who would be wandering the streets around dinner time in saturated raincoats and carrying a box of bright orange and white squares. But we made it, and Hamish, Louise, Pamela and my family set up the tents for the start and start times.

For the next hour, things went fine until we were waiting for the last finisher, Derek, who had started at 7:05!! Anyway, he came back protesting that there was no number ten on his Loop B map. Geoff, who was out collecting controls at this time came back not long after, saying that he couldn't find control number 33 either! . . . All I can say is a HUGE sorry to Derek and how glad I am that the control only decided to walk off for one experienced person. Although Geoff did go back the next day for a double check that it was gone, and yes, the control was still there, wrapped around the bamboo but pushed a little further into it.

All in all, I just want to say how much I enjoyed setting this course, and how great an opportunity it is. Thanks greatly to everyone who helped me on the stormy Wednesday, to everyone who still came along in the horrendous conditions and especially to Hamish, Louise, Jack, Geoff, Pamela and my family for all the little things they did that helped it all run smoothly, as it was very much appreciated.

Oh, and if anyone wants a huge stuck-together blown-up map of the village, I now have two or three lying on the ground in my wardrobe.

Chloe Gregory

Just thought we'd do another picture of you, Chloe

REPORT ON ROTOMA EVENT

Once upon a time, there was a young lady who had come to a sunny wine growing region to retire from the hectic world of elite orienteering. She was enjoying going to orienteering for fun and liked having no pressure to turn up to events.

Then suddenly..... Disaster struck and no setter was available to set at the first club event of the year. A message arrived. "Can you please help us, the only catch is there are some challenges... the first is it is only 2 weeks away."

The young lady thought long and hard about this and since she wasn't able to help out later in the year decided that she should give it a go.

The next challenge was to plan an event on a map with no idea where it was, let alone never having run on it! This challenge was two-fold as it also included decoding the intricate Condes computer program. A few choice words and some frantic calls later (thanks heaps to Pamela Morrison!!!) and the courses were planned.

The third and final challenge was getting 2 white courses, some yellow, orange and 3 red courses out and then having the event which ended up bright and sunny on a beautiful Hawke's Bay day... apart from the crazy fruit flies and other weird biting insects at the start.

All in all, the three challenges were completed and although the courses were probably a bit short, the young lady thought that everyone's legs would not mind too much since it was just the start of the year.

Thanks goes to Ruth for all the phone calls and emails and putting up with trekking around on the Saturday with all the controls all over the place. And also to the great people who helped during the day – Jaime and Hamish (who also collected controls), and also Sarah, Tim (who was fantastic working with the Taradale intermediate students!), and Gary who helped collect controls also and Tim Eagle — my new husband — who put up with all this crazy orienteering setting stuff. He will get addicted one day!

And they all lived happily ever after.

Thanks

Lisa Eagle
