Editorial

As I sit here doing my thing as editor of this issue, I am aware of how much of the content has to do with school orienteering.

There's a natural bias that way while I'm wearing the editor's hat, of course, but that's not the whole picture. I think it is simply the case that our club is putting so much of its time and energy into our younger orienteers.

I think Pamela told me that our junior membership is the largest of any club in the country. (If I'm wrong about that, then I won't let the facts stand in the way of a good story, I'll just carry on) Our overall membership won't make us the biggest club in the country until perhaps the day after tomorrow, but a growing junior membership is definitely a great trend for us.

There are some good things happening at the school level in Hawke's Bay, and you'll see some of them detailed in this issue. Here are a few that spring to mind:

Havelock High included orienteering in a junior interschool sports exchange with Wanganui High School — about sixteen from each school did a score event on Te Mata Peak set and run by Bryan and Luis.

High school orienteers will set so many of our events this year. I hope I don't miss any, but I count Alex, Rochelle, Rosina, Lydia, Chloe, Duncan, Jack, Scott, Helen, Sam, Jaime and Rachel. That's a wonderful experience base for the future.

When I went to Christchurch to see my mum over the Easter break, Jack took on the job of running the Havelock High team practice leading up to North Islands, setting courses and running off maps himself.

(Sorry, team. You thought I drove to Christchurch just to set the navigator quizzes for our trip to nationals) Hawke's Bay responded to the inaugural Queen's Birthday inter-provincial school challenge by sending two teams — the A team and the best team, as Geoff styled them. It was a great success on a number of levels.

The club continues to encourage school orienteers by charging the 'member rate' of $5 for club events until school nationals each year and there is so much willing help from experienced members for those who come.

Is anywhere else in the country as 'mapped' as Hawke's Bay? Our school orienteers have a choice of so many schools, parks and reserves on which to practise. (Read about one of the most recent maps — Hereworth School — which provided a challenging loop course when first used)

Geoff's work with the schools, his training days at weekends and the annual Hawke's Bay junior camp all expose our young people to orienteering and provide the structure to help them progress. Geoff's input is simply enormous.

Small wonder then, that seven of the sixteen in last year's New Zealand secondary school team came from Hawke's Bay. And efficient little train-spotter that he is, Rob McDonald worked out that taking the top five in each championship grade at this year's school nationals, 14 of the 30 came from Hawke's Bay. Four of the six champions came from Hawke's Bay, and four of the runners-up, as well as four of the winning relay teams.

They are doing really well, so do let's write about them.

As a final thought . . . we know that parents bring their children to events (and thank you to all the parents for doing that). But, as another little exercise for a train-spotter, I wonder if someone could work out how many children have brought their parents to events. As in, their parents become involved as a result of bringing their children along. Well, Rob?

Steve

President's Report

It's almost time to rest up a bit with all the school orienteering events almost finished for the year. By the time you read this the NZ Secondary School Champs will have been run in Christchurch and I'm sure HB Schools would have done well bringing home a number of titles. Our own school events have been a great success this year with Lesley, Pamela and their teams putting on two top events. "The Mission" once again proved a great venue for the individuals and "Horseshoe Bend" provided a really good visual display for all the supporters. Record numbers turned out for both days and that's a credit to team organisers and to the students who made the effort to get their friends into orienteering. On efforts, it was nice to hear the offers of help from kids in running these events, setting up and taking down event centres and even learning about Sportident. Anyway, well done to everyone involved in running our school events.

After the individual day Geoff selected four teams to contest a Regional Schools competition in the Wellington area over Queen's Birthday weekend. Not only did he select them, he transported them, fed them (along with Pamela) and organised everything for them. Top effort, Geoff and Pamela, and well done to all our kids who did so well. Some of them were actually running on courses well above their ability and by their results they should keep competing at this new level!

As I write this, Kate Morrison and Jack Vincent are competing at JWOC in Australia. It's awesome to see two of our juniors competing at such a high level.

A month ago the Club Champs were held at "Springvale." It was a day we saw all the focus on our juniors come to fruition. It was tough on us older ones in one respect but also great to see the reward for all that input. In both the Men's Open and Women's Open grades, I think the first four placegetters were juniors (I got fifth!) Well done you younger lot. Now it's up to you to keep this impetus going. Don't worry — we'll try and keep you honest for as long as possible.

As we move into the lambing and calving season we move off the farms and into our Winter Score series. This always provides good competition with Geoff's incredible handicapping (or is it kneecapping?) system.

Finally just a word on the 3-day event we are hosting at Labour Weekend. I would like to see as many club members as possible enter these events. These are our best maps and this is a chance for those of you who don't travel to major events to be part of a national competition.

Rob and his team are putting a lot of effort into this event and by entering you show your support for them and our club.

See you out there

Hamish

SPARC Get 2 Go Challenge

Hi there fellow Oer's,

Following on from the very successful pilot programme held in the Auckland and Northland regions in 2006, the SPARC Get 2 Go challenge is set to spread to the whole of the North Island later this year.

In 2006 the Sport and Recreation Commission (SPARC) and The Sir Edmund Hillary Outdoor Pursuits Centre (OPC) linked up to organise a series of events for year 9 & 10 (3rd and 4th form) students, designed to introduce them to the amazing outdoor recreation opportunities that exist in the great outdoors.

The aim of these events was to provide positive experiences in the following:

- Team work.
- Leadership.
- Environmental knowledge.
- Outdoor recreation skills.
- Competition.

An additional aim was to develop links between schools, teachers, sports coordinators, parents and the participants to the outdoor-based clubs, activities and events that occur locally in their region.

The way it worked in 2006.

Four, day long outdoor challenges were held in the Auckland, Counties Manukau, Waitakere/ North Harbour and Northland regions, with schools entering teams of eight year 9 & 10 students. The teams participated in a rotation of activities, a bit like the Amazing Race, that included kayaking, mountain biking, orienteering and rock-climbing. The activities all involved an element that allowed teams to be scored and the top two teams from each region were invited to a 5-day long grand final competition that took place on Great Barrier Island at the end of Term 4.

The three Auckland O clubs came on board to help out with the orienteering challenge for the regional days held in Auckland and Whangarei. A 60min score/rogaine challenge was set up on One Tree Hill/Cornwall Park map.

Every participant was given a completion certificate. The back of the certificate outlined the clubs and events that were available within their region. A team pack of goodies including stickers, club membership forms, free passes (to Summer Series events), promotional flyers...etc, helped to create awareness and interest in further participation in the activities and also a way for the providers to promote themselves.

The plan for 2007.

The main difference between 2006 and this year is that the Get 2 Go will be a whole lot bigger, with 10 regional days planned across the whole of the North Island. All 316 Nth Island Secondary Schools will be invited to enter a team in their local regional day. Each day will be limited to 28 teams, involving just over 220 students.

The Regional events will need to be held near the following centres (on the dates proposed) so they can be linked in to the other activities on the day –

Whangarei (Northland region) 30th August
Auckland (Auckland, Counties Manukau, Waitakere/North Harbour regions) 11th, 12th, 15th October
Hamilton (Waikato region) 4th September
Rotorua (Bay of Plenty region) 13th September
Hawkes Bay (HB/Eastland region) 11th September
New Plymouth (Taranaki/King Country regions) 6th September
Palmerston North (Manawatu/Wanganui regions) 18th September
Wellington (Wellington/Wairarapa regions) 20th September

Basically, in order for Orienteering to be a part of the challenge I need a few volunteers (in each region) to set up and run the activity on the day. It's actually really easy – 56 kids (7 teams of 8) turn up, they get some basic instructions, do a 60min score event, then they are off to the next activity. That happens 3 or 4 times in the day and that's it. I can give you more ideas.

These events will provide a fantastic opportunity for your club to have an influence on the students that will take part, plus their friends, family, teachers...etc. These people could all become potential club members, or just participants at your events in the future. If your club really wanted to benefit from it, you could consider providing a local club event the following weekend for the students and their families to have another go. This might just be the hook they need to take up orienteering for life!!

Please give this opportunity some thought and I will be contacting you in a week or two to see if you are interested in being involved in this exciting project.

Thanks for your time,

Darren Ashmore.
Get 2 Go Event Co-ordinator/Taupo O Club

Map cards for sale

The club is offering pre-paid map cards for the first time, this year. These will be for sale at Registration at events.

The card will be valid for 5 events and will cost $24 for individuals or $63 for families. This gives you a saving of $1 or $2, respectively, over the 5 events and will help speed up the registration process at events.

To redeem the card, bring it along to your next event, present it at Registration and receive your maps in exchange - all done!

If you have trouble finding cash before an event, then the map card will solve your problem and it could even make a suitable gift for a hard to buy for person!

Winter Classic 2007

The Winter Classic was held on the "Hapua Wetlands" map near Masterton on Sunday the 1st of July.

I stayed up most of the night before watching firstly the All Blacks lose to the Wallabies and secondly Team NZ lose to Alinghi. This probably contributed to our late departure in the morning. Normally I drive around the speed limit but that morning I had to be a bit heavier on the pedal and it wasn't till we hit Masterton that I knew we were going to make it to the map with a comfortable amount of spare time. Anyway I slowed down.

I don't know what happened in Max's car.

Maybe he thought it was further to the map, maybe he was sick of talking to Ken, maybe he saw me in the rear vision mirror or maybe he was still annoyed by the previous night's sporting results. But anyway, Max sped up. The next thing we knew there were flashing lights coming from all directions, sirens, fire engines, road spikes, armed offenders squad . . .

We got a hell of a fright and as we cruised past — there was Max spread eagled over the bonnet of the car.

Well not quite. Steve wanted a good story from the Winter Classic and sorry folks but that's the best I could do. The truth was Max did get a ticket but don't worry Max, I got one a few years back coming home from the same race.

How did the event go? Well, Duncan won the Junior title with Brett second and Jaime third. Rachel was second in the Open Women. I won the M40 and Max got third in the M50.

A great event and if your'e looking for a longer, more physical event try it out in the middle of next winter.

Regional Secondary School Competition Queens Birthday

After the inaugural regional clash between HB and Wellington last year, Malcolm Ingham (Wellington) decided to extend the competition to the rest of the country. Unfortunately, Auckland did not take up the challenge, but a small Canterbury team took part, as well as Wellington and of course not just one but two HB teams. And what a terrific contest it was. Though the HB black team were too strong overall, with half the team having represented NZSS, the competition was excellent. The white team was very competitive, especially the senior boys, and I think they even surprised themselves with some of their results.

It was a bit disconcerting to find the van we had booked for the weekend was not there and that they had us booked for the wrong weekend. But the proprietor of the hire firm saved us from reverting to plan B (which I hadn't thought of at this stage) by managing to get another vehicle from another company. Thank goodness I had gone in on the Friday evening.

It was quite impressive the prompt arrivals before 7am of the travellers, considering they had come from Tangoio to Waimarama. Louis and Lydia opted for the comfort of travelling in the car with Pamela, though this meant the prospect of listening to Sean's jokes. The bountiful amount of HB orienteers meant that there was plenty of them to support during the weekend. Louis did the impossible by upsetting Jack in the sprint, more by devious means! But Jack gained his revenge in the afternoon. Nearly everyone had a standout run during the weekend, with the aging M40's taking the brunt of an M18 attack, getting mauled by 5 of them over the weekend. Jack, Scott, Sam, Louis and Jamie dominated the top of the M18 board each day. It was unsurprising that HB Black and HB White came 1st and 2nd in the senior relay.

While the affluent members of the team were smoking cigars, playing billiards and canasta at the lodge, the rest of us mere mortals adjourned to Foxton Beach to play pictionary, discuss HB politics and compare splits. The beach house was a great place to stay, and the company engaging. We all enjoyed magnificent meals while James McCaughan was content with his potatoes. James, one of three from Napier Boys' in the group by the same name, is Irish, so his passion for potatoes was logical to understand.

Louis castigated Bryan Staunton all weekend on his pathetically slow runs up the finish chute. It seems as if Bryan was on the verge of nodding off on the run in. The ironical thing is that at the HB school relays, Bryan turned the tables on Louis beating him by one second from the last control.

The format of the event was excellent, with our powerful 'A' team showing their skills, while the second team had the opportunity of gaining invaluable experience at this level. Six of these had had little or no experience at red level but all completed their courses. It was good to see them helping each other and I'm sure Rochelle learnt a lot from Jaime, Anna from Lydia and Chloe and so on. Well done.

Geoff

Draw your own conclusion . . .

For one of his recent school practices (on the Te Mata Park map, starting from the bottom gate near the redwoods), Geoff used an exercise which is a really good training tool. You hand them the course and the control descriptions . . . and they have to draw the map.

Simply provide the master map with the course on it and let them draw whatever they wish from the master onto their black-and-white course-only sheet.

With our crew, Geoff didn't time the drawing, but once they were finished, they ran their course against time in the usual way, clipping their cards as they went.

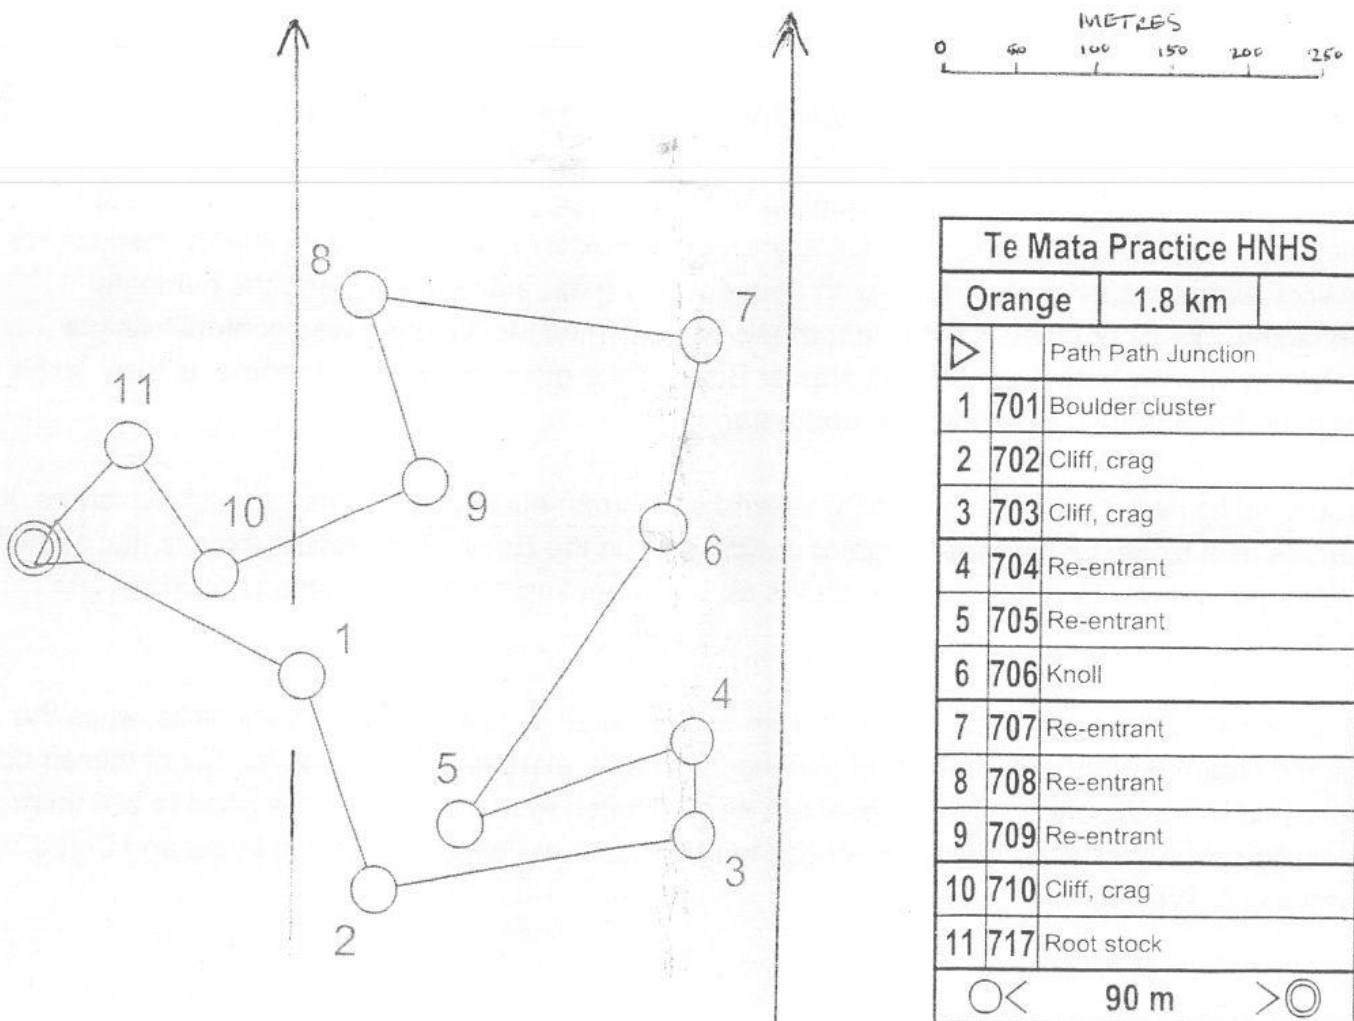

When they found what they had to do, reactions varied hugely. Some fairly experienced orienteers freaked and declared the whole thing impossible. Others' eyes widened at the challenge, declaring, "this is going to be neat — let me at it!"

For the coach, the exercise provides a window inside the orienteers' heads. From what they draw, you see the way they think.

For the efficient orienteers, what they are really drawing is their plan for doing each leg. They simplify down to just those features they need as handrails, stepping stones, attack points or catching features. So, very little checking of the map is needed when they actually run. The process clears the mind of unnecessary clutter.

When running an ordinary course with the full colour map, orienteers can then simplify down in the same way, so they operate much more efficiently.

The orange course from the exercise is printed below together with the control descriptions and the drawing I made to run it. (I'm still trying to convince Geoff that he put control 10 on the wrong cliff)

COURSE SETTING CORNER with Alan Berry

After you have had two or three years' orienteering experience you will be expected to put something back into the club by helping with the setting of courses and the management of club events. Course setting is a demanding yet fascinating part of the sport. It takes a lot of skill, a lot of thought and a lot of work to set great courses. It is a skill that must be learned, so let's do something about it. Each issue we will include some ideas on how to set those great courses. We will discuss some of the formal rules and also the general principles of course setting. Not in any particular order but all things that you need to know.

The rules. The formal rules are set out in the Competition Rules for New Zealand Foot Orienteering Events. You can find a full copy on the NZ Orienteering Federation website/technical. But we will also cover a lot of stuff not written in the rules – lots of ideas and tips on how to make your courses demanding, fair and fun.

Fairness. The guiding principle is that of fairness to all competitors. The rules are built around that principle and you see how the principle is applied as we work our way through those rules.

Rule. Competitors who are waiting to start should not be able to see previous runners leaving the triangle. Comment. This is where fairness starts on the course. Put the start triangle, or start control standard, out of sight. Over a spur, behind some trees, anywhere that prevents the people who are waiting from gaining an advantage by knowing where previous runners have gone.

Rule. The flag shall be hung at the feature indicated on the map in accordance with the control description. The flag shall be visible to competitors when they can see the described position. Comment. If the control description says "Boulder, W side", then competitors should be able to see the flag when they can see the west side of the boulder. If the flag is shielded by a bunch of thistles, cut them down.

Rule. Only when the control features are distinctly different in the terrain as well as on the map, should controls be placed closer than 100 metres. Comment. Controls on a stream junction and a steep bank, 75 metres apart, are OK. Controls at the foot of a two metre high rocky cliff and a three metre high earth bank (the "eyelash" sort), 75 metres apart, are not OK. They are not "distinctly different".

Tip. On a red or orange course, one third of the legs should take up two thirds of the distance. After a long hard leg, when competitors' are in oxygen debt and their brains have turned to custard, give them a couple of tricky short legs at right angles to each other. They will love you for it.

Blessed are they that write up their events for the magazine . . . for their A-attitudes

THERE IS A RIGHT WAY – AND MANY WRONG WAYS

We have some very handsome direction signs that we display at road junctions, just so that members will not get lost even before they get to the event.

But there seem to be as many different ways of erecting the signs, as there are course setters.

Orienteering flags must have the orange half of the triangle at the lower edge of the flag. Well, at least two sides out of three must be so, while the other side, with the white at the lower edge, just joins the first two together.

The arrows on the signs are fixed by Velcro, so that they can be swivelled around to point in the direction that you want the traffic to take. It is the arrow that is swivelled, not the whole sign.

So this is how it should be done:

like this

or this

or this

But absolutely positively NOT:

like this

or like this!

Volunteer of the Month May — Ken Holst

Volunteer of the Month for May, Ken Holst, set the courses for this year's Hawke's Bay School Champs at the Mission.

Ken's service to the sport and to the club goes back a long way. As an international controller, he was IOF adviser to the World Orienteering Champs when they were held in Bendigo, Australia in 2002 and was controller for the IOF standard multi-day event in Taupo in 2006. Ken was controller for New Zealand nationals when the Hawke's Bay Club hosted at Whanawhana.

Ken serves on our club's mapping committee. He was the one who mapped Arborfield, and he says Stewart's photogrammetry was 'spot on'.

How long have you been orienteering?

About 30 years, starting in Rotorua.

How did you get involved in orienteering?

My first experience was in the army when I was one of the last New Zealanders called up. They did a final exercise which was a score event. Each platoon had to find three controls per person. The first three in my platoon went out and found nothing. The next got two. I went out and found six or seven. They were pretty badly placed — I thought, that would be a great sport if done properly. It was five or six years later we moved to Rotorua and met people who were going to an event at the Rotorua Orienteering Club.

What do you remember about your first event?

My first ROC event was on a black and white map southwest of Rotorua on a forest block with undergrowth. I walked round the white course with the kids on tracks. They enjoyed it, and I did another course the same day. My first major event was on the Napier-Taupo Road where I took two hours on a 40 minute course. I thought I knew everything, but I just lost it completely.

What course do you usually run?

Usually red medium.

What do you enjoy about orienteering?

I guess the independence. It's always different. You have to think about where you're going and what you're doing. It's thinking all the time and you don't realise you're exhausted until you reach the finish.

If we met you during the week, what would you be doing / what's your job?

I work for Transit NZ as a road safety engineer. We've been doing crash reduction studies around the region in the last six months aimed at safety at intersections.

Volunteer of the Month June — Jennie Barrett

Jennie, our volunteer of the month for June, was less than thrilled to be photographed after just having finished the score event in the rain on Te Mata Peak.

Jennie has been running orienteering at Woodford House for a few years now and while on study leave this year, is still the one who organises the girls to come to practices on Mondays. But she is quick to pay tribute to year 12 girl Anna Williams who has been “absolutely wonderful, promoting the sport and ensuring that things run smoothly. Anna has been the face of orienteering at Woodford this year. She has a personal, encouraging approach and is highly organised. Developing the sport, in a school that requires significant commitment in other areas, is difficult but she has maintained the profile; quite a challenge for a student.”

How long have you been involved with orienteering?

About 10 years — has it really been that long??

How did you get involved with orienteering?

Two student teachers came to school for a teaching practice. I had a practical module planned for my sixth form class (now year 12) but decided to ask them to plan a module involving an activity I had never done before. They chose orienteering and tracked Geoff down to help out. I was hooked!

What courses do you usually run?

Supposed to be red short, but invariably ends up medium. Tried red medium but the boys got sick of waiting for me.

What do you enjoy about orienteering?

Seeing parts of the country I wouldn't normally have access to — plus some parts that I shouldn't be at! Getting outside my comfort zone and living to tell the tale. Lastly, combining physical activity and brain activity.

If we met you during the week, what would you be doing?

Normally at school teaching and managing the staff (along with a million other things teachers do) but this year at a café — yeah right! That's what everyone thinks study leave involves but I'm discovering the reality is several mental breakdowns a week, my nose in a book and questioning how much reality is behind all the high-powered academic 'stuff' the experts have written.

Eye in the sky

By the magpie

- While putting out base stations for the school champs at the Mission, it was found that one of the controls was missing. Fortunately it wasn't going to be used during the event. But a search later on found nothing, but Ken returned later in the week for a look in the lake and found that the control had 'walked' and had settled in a maimai!
- Chris Howell found a novel way of training his Maraekakaho team for the school events. He has mapped his vineyard and surrounding areas which has proved an ideal preparation as their results in the relays proved.
- Derek thought he was clever fronting with the Manson twins for Napier Girls' but Chris went one better by unveiling the Wiltshire triplets for Maraekakaho! Now the race is on for the first quadruplets.
- Chamber music was all the buzz at the last event, with Mark Irwin off to see three of his daughters competing in a regional event. Jack Vincent, Sam Eames, Lydia Parker, Kate Morrison were also competing and probably others.
- Louis Chambers has just won a decent law scholarship to Waikato University by being in the best secondary school 'mooter' in NZ. He was part of HNHS team that won the title. Mooting is law based, where teams are given a case which they have to argue for or against, similar to a debate.
- Ben Christensen has just been selected for the NZSS choir.
- Todd Oates ran the recent Wellington half-marathon and despite not featuring in the major placings won the big prize. It just happened to be a trip to London for the famed London Marathon. Incidentally, in miserable conditions, Ross Morrison came in a creditable 5th.
- Jay Barrett was a lot of use for Havelock North Intermediate in the inter-school competition. In the individual event, he couldn't compete because of an injured ankle and just before the relays, he knocked himself out coming off his mountain bike on Te Mata Park. He did a good job handing out the chocolates at the finish.
- Derek ran a practice at Park Island and during the afternoon, had a control stolen. Unable to find it in the rapidly fading light, he returned next day and found the standard. It was missing both clipper and number tag, which seems strange, as wouldn't the standard have been of more use?

Guthrie Smith (15 April) Report

After only a season in orienteering, the mantle was thrust upon me to set a course. Quite a responsibility, but I thought it would be a piece of cake – throw a few controls out and try and link them up. Wrong. I was not expecting the volume of work involved with the control setting but with the help of my neighbour Rolf, I got to work setting the course to a hopefully decent standard.

Once the course had been established and all the routes critiqued, it was time to check it on site. By the time I arrived home after an afternoon at the centre, my master map was totally scrawled with changes and required a full overhaul. I reworked it over a night and almost the whole course was changed. The forestry block 'route choices' had to have the word 'choice' taken out of it due to the abundance of blackberry (although this was not totally successful for everyone – sorry Pamela).

On the day before the event I was up at first light with military precision putting the controls out in groups after a planning session the night before. Returning to Napier for work later that morning on time was successful but unfortunately the hockey game that afternoon was not. At least I survived the first half but ended up with both calves cramping during the second, forcing my early retirement from the game. Running around hills all morning — commitment . . .

On the day it was all going smoothly until the caravan came without the key. Luckily for me, seasoned orienteers are also professional criminals and the shutter was jimmied with no major damage. A slightly late start did not dampen spirits and soon I was sitting on the finish line with the seasoned helpers behind me taking care of the registrations/starts etc.

Special mentions to Scott and Cara for smoking the medium course. To Rolf for hammering the short course (unofficially, due to having had much input into my first draft – however, the final version was totally different). To Pamela, for the most blood shed. To the sun for shining. To Alan Oates for vetting. To all the helpers for helping. To everyone for having a good time (or at least pretending to, despite spending an hour looking for the first control – no names mentioned jbw).

Finally, some tips for first time setters:

1. Get someone who knows what they are talking about to show you where to start
2. Compare your courses with other similar mapped courses
3. Do everything early
4. Know the terrain and plan your attack
5. Tell the family on the caravan duty that it needs a key, and where to find it
6. Don't park your car within a metre of an electric fence and hold a control stick ski-pole-style while searching for the next control from the back seat.
7. Armpit – not a happy place to receive voltage

Club Champs, Springvale — Report

Wasn't the weather just perfect on race day, eh! Maybe for the farmers but not for the later starters. Conditions went from fast and dry early on to slick and mud-caking on your shoes later. I've also never seen so many competitors warming up pre-run before! Was it the cold or were some of you actually taking the Champs seriously?

Springvale is an excellent map to set courses on with so many terrain variations and interesting areas to set controls in. Not quite so easy for the White and Yellow courses but all the feedback we got was positive so it couldn't have been all bad.

Planning and setting were nearly without a hitch but there is always something you can change or do better – extra control sites was one thing we needed more of because even though courses had been finalised a week before we were still adding and changing controls on Saturday night, with an extra control being placed out early Sunday morning by Rob. Everything went to plan, so we must have done our homework right.

Congratulations to the podium finishers and condolences to the older boys who were bemoaning their placings behind the younger chaps. It might be time to fall back to Red Medium where you've at least got a chance of winning again, or at least beating me if nothing else.

Thanks to Rob McDonald for keeping me on the straight and narrow with planning, setting out and vetting. Thanks also to the rest of the McDonald clan for help in the caravan and control collection; Andrew Bott — also roped in at the last moment for control collection — and last but not least, Kirsten, for caravan duties.

Coaching Corner

Following

Watching the school relays, I witnessed a great display of following. It was on a white course and the lead runner followed a fence line to the next control. Unfortunately for her, she was following the wrong fence line. But she took around 10 other competitors with her. They all mindlessly followed her to the wrong control. The reality is that if the 10th runner had bothered to look at the map and run the right way, the chances are she could have taken a 2 minute lead. At times, there is nothing you can do but to go in the same direction, but you must be aware that you must be ready to capitilise on any mistake made ahead. This means reading your map!

The secret is to maintain contact with the map, difficult as it may seem. Terry Russell once told me that his father had given him some advice on why you never hire more than one boy. "One boy-one brain, two boys'-half a brain, three boys'- no brains". This adage applies to orienteering.

HB School Relays Report

I was initially quite happy to see my name down to set a course at Horseshoe Bend, one of the club's best maps, and things sounded even better when I heard Dave Fisher had done a lot of work on this map and it was now a co-joined triplet with the Te Mata and Over The Hill maps.

Never having been to a relay event before, I was a little unaware of the magnitude of organising that was required. It soon became apparent that it was going to be a fairly large event. Setting six courses didn't sound too daunting until I found out each course had to have three splits, making it eighteen courses, then another five club maps to boot on top of that. It's very difficult to do nine white courses around the same area and that's where Alan Berry came to the rescue. He became co-setter and took control of the whites. His overall input was enormous as he showed great skills in organising, communication, vetting and setting — all done with accuracy and humour ( I like the look of the senior girls' long leg ).

The weather was absolutely perfect for us. When we were checking out possible control sites in May there had been no rain for a month and we were able to drive to a lot of the outer points in the car. Leading up to the event we had a couple of week's rain to soften up the footing — that made for great underfoot running conditions. Then the day was an absolute beauty, blue skies and no wind whereas on the other side of Te Mata Peak it blew a gale.

The birds living out on this farm were a real feature and an enjoyable aspect of our visits. Flocks of turkeys too fat to fly over fences, cockatoos squawking with extremely loud and annoying tones (typical Aussies), a chicken house that was never in the same place twice but the chooks were still pleased to see you anyway, and a crow with two dog mates that would run up to you and jump onto your arm (the crow or the dogs? — Editor).

As with all events, they wouldn't occur without farmer consent and we must always be thankful, this time to Heather Martin who was extremely amicable in the use of her farm. She has created almost a park-like setting and it is a privilege to use this area. I think Geoff did an exceptional job as emcee and Pam needs recognition for sitting behind the computer all day checking results. Lesley organising the event so it all came together on the day without incident. Hamish for doing the unheralded job as traffic warden. These jobs tend to slip past the radar but are critical when two hundred cars turn up simultaneously.

I'd like to thank Dave Fisher for creating the opportunities for these courses to be possible and for the use of his equipment ( and the ride back to base ). Finally I'd like to thank all the school staff that got in behind this event and managed to come up with seventy plus teams. All the winning times were within the times set out even though the courses were longer than normal. A lot of (unacknowledged) others also contributed time to make this event work but as a club it is pleasing to see so many chip in when they can.

Thanks all.

Rob

Hereworth School useful new map

The recently mapped Hereworth School was used for the first time for a practice event on Tuesday 12 June.

The map is part of the updated and extended Arataki map, part of which was used for a summer series event set by Lydia in February. The full Arataki map now extends from Napier Road in the west (including Guthrie Park and the proposed recreation reserve 'behind' it) to the reserve 'behind' Summerset and the reserves bordering Kingsgate in the east; and from the new subdivisions creeping towards the Arataki Holiday Park in the north to Hereworth School and the Karituwhenua Stream Reserve in the south.

The Hereworth School map was printed off at 1:2500 for the exercise which was put on for orienteers from Hereworth School, Woodford House, Havelock North High and Havelock North Primary . . . and Lucknow, if we count Sean.

Lucy Lambess was best of the girls on the 17-control white course, taking 11m 50s while Hamish Hull got round in 8:00.

A loop course proved to have plenty of challenge with a variety of landscapes possible. They ranged from the usual complex and confusing school buildings, to playing fields, gardens and hedges; and even sections under trees and rough open areas and (if the groundsman will excuse me) wilderness areas. Where else do we get the chance to place a control by the outdoor chess set or by the waterfall down the side of a well-known author's house? This map has everything. Geoff had a far from clean run in coming fourth to Bryan Staunton (18:06), Abe Dancaster (18:50) and Luis Slyfield (20:18).

A limiting factor on the courses for 12 June was the request that orienteers not run across the rugby field or the soccer field (because it was practice night) or the cricket wicket, so all courses were set so there was no advantage in doing so.

As the times suggest, there is enough in this map to merit a summer series event at the school. With the Havelock Village map and the Arataki map linking to the old Havelock Hills map, there is scope now for street events and even a kind of urban rogaine.

These are just my thoughts as a humble novice fieldworker, but I reckon the new area has plenty of interest and I hope more people get to run on it.

Steve
