President's Report

Another winter nearly over and we are about to return to the farm maps for the rest of the year.

The introduction of our new sport ident timing has gone well so far with few teething problems. We will be using the full system from now on which means no more clipcards. This is a real bonus for setters and vettors as it means no more checking of punches. It does mean that competitors will no longer have a card to record their control descriptions on, so will need to have a system of carrying control descriptions with them. For younger competitors, the lack of a clipcard and punches means there is no way for them to check which controls they have visited, so your children may need some help in devising a method to cope with this. With regard to downloading and results generation, please remember it can be a real test of concentration sitting in front of the screen for three hours entering people and generating results. So if we have the odd glitch during an event, please bear with the computer operators while they sort it out.

Work is progressing on the 2011 NZ Champs. The mapping group and committee have been working hard to find a new middle distance map for the 2011 NZ Champs. A possible forest/rock property with exciting possibilities has been found and once the absentee owner has been approached we will know if we are able to use it. The committee has made a decision on the map for the sprint event which will be held at EIT. If you still have a copy of the EIT map, please either hand back to the club, or destroy it as it would be good to have the map as unknown as possible for the event.

After a relatively quiet winter period, the OY series has kicked off again with the EIT sprint event and the upcoming score OY and score Club Champs at Tangoio. The close-packed buildings of EIT proved a graveyard for some (I should know!) as they struggled to get to grips with the new map. I would like to know if club members have enjoyed the change in OY format this year and if we have got the balance right between long distance events and others. If you have any views on the new OY series format, please make them known to me or the committee before we start planning the fixtures for next year (will be happening before you know it!).

Right, now is the time to use and abuse my position as President of HBOC. A major issue facing many clubs in NZ is how to grow and maintain membership. HBOC has commented to NZOF on this many times with regard to getting juniors involved through schools mapping and school events and it is good to see NZOF recognising this on the website through the best practice guides. We are fortunate to have a large and vibrant club with over 300 members, but this hasn't happened by chance or good luck. We have had considerable success growing our membership largely through the efforts of Geoff, Steve, Derek and Hamish going into schools and getting kids involved. North West is now starting to see increased interest through the efforts of Mike Beveridge who is doing similar things. Taupo is a small club in crisis and desperately in need of new members to compete and help share the workload of running events but does not have the club members or resources to grow membership themselves. A suggestion has been made that HBOC assist Taupo in running events and competing, but this fails to address the underlying issue of a lack of support from within Taupo. There are also fantastic maps there that could be lost to NZ Orienteering if nothing is done to assist, but we need to remember that because of population size Taupo will always be small. Perhaps it makes more sense to run the Taupo and Rotorua clubs as a single entity, especially as the centres are only about one hour apart. While NZOF has some very good best practice guides on the website, I believe that the single best thing NZOF could do to support these smaller clubs and grow the sport in those areas would be to assist in mapping schools and parks by appointing part time paid schools' ambassadors to do the mapping, set up, and run school events. Our money as contributors to NZOF coffers would be better spent in this way trying to grow the base of the triangle than the top.

In the words of Rachel Hunter, "it won't happen overnight, but it will happen."

May you be more cunning than your rivals,

Chris

Primiero, Italia

In the week prior to leaving for Italy I was busy studying for my university exams and it was extremely hard to concentrate on study because I knew that the day after my last exam I was off to Italy. About 10pm the night before, Kate and I were running around the hostel like crazy trying to pack up all our things. I have to thank Amber too because without her I don't think I would have ever packed! We finally went to bed and before we knew it we were up again and getting onto our plane to Italy with Andrew and Nicola Peat.

After flying to Singapore, we got on another plane to Munich and then finally to Venice. The flight from Munich to Venice will be one that I will never forget! We flew over the Dolomites, where we would be racing a week later, and the view was amazing. When we arrived in Venice I was ready to get my shoes out to go through customs etc, but apparently they don't do that over there. What a waste of time it was staying up till an early hour in the morning cleaning my shoes! Then Norm, Scott and a few others met us and we all got into a minivan and headed for Cesuna in the mountains.

We arrived in Cesuna at about 10pm and it was still light. After putting our bags in our rooms we headed out for a run in the woods. At about 10.30pm we had dinner and headed to bed. In the morning we went on our first training exercise literally just outside the door. The map was where WW1 was fought. There were trenches everywhere and we found a regiment's barracks. The whole time I was attempting to run around the map all I could think was; how could these soldiers have fought a war here?

The next few days we trained all round the front line. On some of the maps we were so high that there was still snow around. The terrain here was big cliffs, steep hills and lots of trenches. In the time that we weren't training we were either playing cards or trying to learn Italian – which got a few members in our team in very awkward situations later in our trip — or shopping at the local supermarket and buying gelato's!

After a week in Cesuna we went to Tonadico, which was right beside Fiera di Primiero. Most of the team were staying at a boardinghouse, and Kate, Angela, Georgia and I stayed in a house just up the road. Tonadico was a typical Italian town with cobbled streets, narrow road and lots of houses in close proximity. Our house was really lovely, except for two things. One, there was no shower – only a bath which made washing our hair a disaster — and two, the church 20m away . . . well not the church but the bells that go all night!

The next week was the official JWOC training week. We got to see lots of other teams and train on maps either adjacent to the actual maps or ones with similar terrain. We drove up to San Martino and Passo Rolle one day to have a look around. We went blueberry picking in the mountains and did a sprint race around Tonadico.

On the Sunday before JWOC started we had to move into our JWOC accommodation. We were staying at a hotel right near the bus station and town. After that we went to the model event at San Martino and then had the opening ceremony. It was amazing. The streets of Primiero were lined with people, there were TV screens broadcasting the ceremony and the parade through the town was so much fun. At the ceremony we saw local folk dancing, listened to the local singers, watched some jugglers, and the highlight for all of us was the performance from an Italian singer with his hit single Running between the trees.

The next day was the Sprint. We had to catch a bus to the start. This was an experience for me. Everyone was listening to their music and no one said a word. When we got there we were given warm up maps and you could see the nerves and tension building as it got closer to the start of the race. Surprisingly I wasn't too nervous for the race until I realised I had to run down a ramp at the start in front of TV cameras. The sprint race started in one town, Imer, and finished in Mezzano at their athletics track. I had a pretty good race considering I couldn't run much faster than a jogging pace. The stadium was packed with spectators and the atmosphere was so amazing. Angela and Jourdan had the best runs of the day for the Kiwis.

The next day was the Long at Passo Rolle. This meant early starts for the first starters, as it was an hour bus ride to the start. Arriving at the start I was greeted by a matchbox-sized warm up map, cold weather and about two hours until my start. The terrain was much steeper and technical, and the courses had a few tough route choice legs. My race was average. I made a massive mistake on one control and for the rest of it I just didn't have the speed. As I finished the rain started. I felt so sorry for the rest of the runners having to run in the rain and the cold. The hot pasta that we got was amazing though! Kate definitely had the run of the day out of the New Zealanders finishing 22nd.

The next day was the rest day. We got to go up to Altopiano Rosetta (2700m) by cable car, which was one of the mountains up from San Martino. The Kiwi boys decided that because the sun was out they didn't need to wear shirts, and then they played in the snow. At the top of the mountain there was a magnificent view of the valley and all the places we had been in the training week. We had a big snow fight against the British team — which continued when we were off the mountain when they brought snowballs down. The rest of the day we just relaxed at our accommodation.

The middle qualification races were held at San Martino. There were three courses for both male and female grades. I got to the start line and I started with two other girls. We lined up together and a map was placed above us (we all had different courses) and then we started. There was a massive run to the start triangle — about 600m. The courses were really fast running which was a bit annoying for me and I got caught by a lot of people. The last hillside before we headed into the last controls reminded me of Tangoio — except without the blackberry!! Next was the waiting game to see who made the A, B and C finals. Kate, Georgia Whitla and Angela Simpson made the girls' A final. Greta, Nicola and I made the B final and all the boys made the B final too — with Thomas Reynolds and Jourdan Harvey narrowly missing out on the A.

The final was the next day at the same map — but on the more technical side. At the start we went through an eventful warm-up of aerobics led by Simon Jager. The aim was to scare all the opponents — but I think instead we just made fools of ourselves! On this side of the map, it wasn't as steep and there was much more detail to read and a lot of rock. I enjoyed the courses for the final much more, as it didn't all come down to running. After the B and C finals had been run we all got to watch the A finals. This was really exciting as the A finals had a couple of spectator legs. It was really good being able to see some of the top runners in action.

The last day of competition was the relays. They were held in the most amazing place — in a valley with mountains all around — but unfortunately it was raining! The start was very exciting in both the guys and the girls. In the course we all had a 'map change' which meant that when you were halfway around your course you had to turn over your map and do the the course on the other side. Also there were two spectator controls. This was really cool, watching all the competitors, especially for the top of the men's relay between Switzerland and Sweden to determine who took the gold.

Overall, New Zealand ended up being 10th team at JWOC, which was an amazing result to achieve. I have to thank both Norm Jager (manager) for his amazing photography, cooking skills and organisation, and Mark Lawson (coach) for all the work that he put in during the training weeks at JWOC and the tips that he gave us during the competition. Also thank you to our sponsors: Leppin, Greymouth Petroleum, Auckland University, mum and dad, and to all those who purchased calendars. Without you my trip would not have happened.

I'll finish off by saying that I had the most amazing trip and time at JWOC. So for all you guys and girls still at school, or who have just left, I encourage you all to get training and trial for the New Zealand team for the Junior World Champs next year in Denmark!

Ciao, Rachel Goodwin

Rolf's letter to members . . .

As you are all aware, it is important that we do all we can to respect the properties we orienteer on and make sure that the landowners are happy. As members, you get regularly bombarded with issues and restrictions to ensure we keep them happy.

So it is nice when we get some positive feedback. I recently received a note from a Mrs Glennly who owns the land that we used for parking / event centre at the Te Awanga club event. She says "...you always leave the place so tidy, it is a pleasure to have you."

Well done to all. Cheers,

Rolf

Compass Points on Computer

Being the club historian has placed me in the enviable position of having numerous, rather than countless, boxes of interesting artefacts, or just plain old stuff. This includes copies of every map ever created by the club, minutes of long forgotten meetings and copies of every Compass Points magazine, plus assorted old membership lists and more.

Rather than keeping all this just for the moths to eat I wanted to find a way to share it with you all, but passing around numerous boxes of stuff doesn't seem like much fun.

The first move was to put copies of all the maps on the website. (Don't go looking for a new map until after the first few events)

The second move took a bit longer but got going when Ted Sapsford discovered Bob Jones had a spare scanner with an automatic page feeder. Bob donated it to the club and I put it to work scanning the old Compass Points magazines. Well, yes, the excitement was starting to wane a bit towards the end when Ted suggested we needed to have separate contents pages. It was a good idea, so some more time passed while the contents pages were set up. Now it is all done, but there is too much to put on the website, although there are a few sample magazines on the website. Instead, it is all available on CD.

Thanks to Ted, Bob and Hamish (he did some test driving), all Compass Points from 1977 onwards are now on CD.

David Fisher

Compass Points will continue to appear in its present 'hard-copy' paper booklet form as well — Editor

Hawkeye

With the demise of the magpie, the committee decided to resurrect a page devoted to little mishaps, achievements and interesting information regarding club members. If you have any good stuff you'd like to share with the rest of the club please forward it to a committee member

Stuart Spall is the HBSS Table Tennis Champion.

Callum Herries, Harry Dent and Justin Alsleben have all had major roles in their School Production.

Brandon Jones was a member of the winning team at the recent HB Schools Athletics competition.

Bradley Ivory featured in the HB Today recently as a member of a team in the Young Enterprise Scheme.

The NBHS/NGHS bus driver for the NZSS Orienteering Champs turned out to be a good team player. Not only did he drive the bus, he helped with cooking and making lunches, ran a course with Tim and beat Derek at Ten Pin Bowling.

Sean Morrison won the Year 7 Cross Country at Havelock Intermediate.

Blake Boswell is into gymnastics. He's very good at it too having recently won a competition along with lots of medals (mainly gold) and ribbons.

At the HB Schools Science Fair HB Orienteers took home a heap of prizes. Included in the winners were Josh Sheard and Stuart Spall (Technology Challenge), Georgia Lindsay (Science Quiz), Brett Sceats (Surveying), Harriet Baxter (commended Year 10 project), Catherine Clark (outstanding Year 10 project) and Rhiannon Forlong Ford, Fergus Bramley, George Nelson and Connor Alsleben.

HB representatives in other sports include Craig Sceats, Callum Herries, Harrison Gregory, Joel Willetts and Kate Haselhoff for soccer and Grace Irwin, Sarah Baxter, Sean Morrison and Sam Webb for hockey.

Colwyn Forlong Ford is the HBSS Year 10 Chess Champion.

How about the junior club member who while competing at Whana whana had to negotiate an electric fence. Was it on or was it off? The member had heard it said that if you get close enough with your ear you can hear the current running through the wire and thereby know that the fence was on. So the member decided to apply this listening test and found that you actually had to place your ear on the wire in question . . . Yes, yes, yes the fence was on !!!

At the Sprint Champs at EIT recently, Alan Berry indulged in an innocent enough piece of gamesmanship with Stewart. He targeted the wrong guy. The New Zealand Men's M75 (2005) Sprint Champion showed a clean pair of heels to all concerned to win by a very healthy margin. Well done, Paul!

'O' Gear Puzzle

Four children were each given two orienteering things. Jack had a compass. The child who had a sport Ident also had a map bag. The child who had a clip card also had a sport Ident. Jim didn't have a sport Ident and Joe had a clip card. James didn't have a compass and Jack had no map bag. Knowing that there were two of each thing, but No child had two of the same thing, can you tell who had what?

'O' Megabrain Turner

The HBOC has organized 7 people to put out 7 controls marked A-G. Each person put out one control and there is one control in each place. Can you work out who put each control out, where they put it and how old each person is. Choosing from the list below and using the clues given.

Where: land features: spur, cliff, hill top, re-entrant
Man made features : fence bend, path end, bridge

Who: Kelly, Simon, Barbara, Suzan, Phil, Joe, Poppy

Age: a teenager, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46,

There is only one possible answer. You do not have to make any guesses at any stage. All the information is given to you. Good luck :) I assure you its not impossible.

Clues:

- Control E is not a man made feature. It was put out by Joe whose age is an odd number and control G was put out by a person whose age is an even number.
- The teenager put out the control on the path, but she isn't Barbara who is 42.
- Both Simon and the person who is 45 put their controls at land features, neither of their controls are marked as vowels.
- Control A is not the control on the bridge which was put out by Poppy, who is younger than Kelly. Both girls ages are even numbers and both are older than Suzan who put out control C.
- Control F is on a cliff and was put there by the girl who is one year younger than the boy who put his control in the re-entrant which isn't control D or marked as a vowel
- The oldest person put their control on a fence bend which is closer to Simons control than it is to both the control on the hill top and the control marked as E.

Oak planted in Deborah's honour

(We reprint this article which appeared in Hawke's Bay Today )

Friends and family of former Hastings district councillor Deborah Turner planted an oak tree in her memory overlooking the rural countryside she loved around Puketitiri, below the Kaweka Ranges.

Cr Turner died in July 2008 after a battle with cancer. She had represented her community for seven years on the council, first elected in 2001 for the rural Kaweka Ward and then under the Mohaka Ward.

The oak tree has a handmade macrocarpa seat next to it where visitors can sit and reflect.

Hastings deputy mayor Cynthia Bowers said Deborah would have approved of the site chosen for the tree.

"Anyone who knew Deborah knew how much she loved the outdoors."

The Hawke's Bay Orienteering Club ran the Deborah Turner Memorial Rogaine on 10 May this year. It is be an annual event on the club's calendar.

Member of the Month

July — Cameron Massie

The photo opposite shows Cameron Massie and Sarah Anderson leading the New Zealand delegation in the parade of competitors at the World Schools' Orienteering Championships in Madrid in April this year.

Cameron found the maps in Madrid not very different from some of our spur/gully maps in Hawke's Bay but the crumbling soil underfoot made some of the slopes difficult. Cameron's senior boys' team from Napier Boys' High placed fifth overall at the champs, with Cameron finishing 17th in the Middle and 20th in the Long.

Cameron has individual successes he can point to at home, like winning the North Island schools' title two years ago and running third in the senior boys' championship at nationals this year — with his broken wrist in a cast.

Looking forward, Cameron sees himself as an environmental scientist of some sort . . . and in orienteering: he says he 'would like to do the whole JWOC thing eventually'.

How long have you been involved with orienteering?

Through high school.

How did you get involved with orienteering?

Through Derek. I heard about it, and I'd always been pretty interested. I thought I'd take up the opportunity.

What do you remember about your first event?

It was a course at Whitmore Park. I did a white and I thought it was pretty easy. I think I went straight up to yellow after that.

What courses do you usually run?

Red medium. I'm doing red longs for OYs this year to make them as hard as I can. I'm pretty much just racing Duncan. My victories have been few and far between in the past, but they're getting more frequent. He's the better runner by far.

What do you enjoy about orienteering?

It's different every time. I like the big events . . . and the road trips. I went to Oceanias.

If we met you during the week, what would you be doing?

Scinde House at the hostel. Home every second weekend. Home is a sheep and beef farm half an hour from Dannevirke and half an hour from Waipukurau. I'm put to work, crutching, shearing, whatever. I could be playing rugby. I'm an open-side flanker — second fifteen this year.

Member of the Month

August — Neville Smith

Neville Smith is one of those who come to orienteering from a background of competitive running. This can be a huge frustration for top runners when they front up to o-events only to be blown away by people they know they would beat pointlessly in a straight race. (Ask Geoff the story of Phil Costley's first orienteering event) Not that Neville's complaining — rather he's enjoying the challenge — but this is a man who has won two national steeplechase titles and ran for New Zealand in Poland on the track.

The photo opposite shows Neville running the prestigious Dorne Cup at Trentham in 2004. He finished fourth that year and has a best placing of third in the race which has the status of a Lower North Island championship.

Neville will run the track season again this summer to build up for the national track and field champs at Christchurch's QEII Park at Easter 2010.

Neville's ambitions in orienteering are rather more modest — but don't expect to outrun him from the last control to the finish.

How long have you been involved with orienteering?

On and off for probably 10 years. I haven't had too many full seasons.

How did you get involved with orienteering?

In fifth or sixth form. Through Derek or you. Through running. I remember going to one school orienteering nationals when I was at Hastings Boys'. Somewhere close to Masterton, I think.

What do you remember about your first event?

It think it was one of those farms, but I can't remember what map it was. I did a yellow course with Julia and then I did a course by myself.

What courses do you usually run?

I haven't done any 'normal' courses this year. But red medium, I think. I'll probably do red long to try to get used to it.

What do you enjoy about orienteering?

It's different. It's not always just flat-out running — there's thinking involved. It becomes more of a skill than just running and you need fitness too.

If we met you during the week, what would you be doing?

Running or working. I run with Ali (Howard) or Richard (Potts) on Wednesday and Sunday and the rest basically by myself. I'll do the national cross country next year. I'm working at WHK doing accounting.

New Zealand Schools Champs

Pukepuke and Kaikokopu, 17 & 18 July 2009

Napier Boys' High and Havelock North High carried off the major team trophies from this year's New Zealand schools champs in Manawatu. Napier Boys' won the boys' Top School trophy with 309 points from Havelock North (258) and Birkenhead (150). Napier led by 45 points after day one but on day two Havelock rallied strongly in winning one relay and conceding only six points to their rivals on the day. Karamu were 7th with 102 points.

In a much tighter contest for the girls' Top School, Havelock North edged out Napier Girls' by 326.5 to 310 with Pukekohe third on 207. Woodford House were 7th and Hastings Girls' 8th.

The Premier School trophies went the same way, judged on the best senior, best intermediate and best junior championship runner from each school. Napier Boys' won with 21 points (Cameron Massie 3rd SB, Pearson Williams 7th IB, Zane Tomalin 4th JB). Havelock North were fourth with 10 points (Luis Slyfield 7th SB, Thomas Hensman 7th JB)

The girls' Premier Trophy went to Havelock North with 24 points (Jaime Goodwin 3rd SG, Paige Heavey 3rd IG, Nicola Mulvay 3rd JG). Napier Girls' were second on 16 points (Sarah Anderson 5th SG, Holly Edmonds 1st JG).

In the small schools' competition for teams of five or fewer, Hastings' Girls' placed second (89pts) to Chilton St James (121pts) for girls' teams. Lindisfarne finished 7th of the boys' teams.

Holly Edmonds (NGHS) was the winner of the junior girls' championship by a commanding 1m 50s margin, a win that helped earn her a place in the NZSS team for Australia. The other Hawke's Bay orienteers on the championship podium on the day were Cameron Massie (NBHS) who was third to the Massey High pair of Mathew Ogden and Gene Beveridge; and the Havelock North High trio of Jaime Goodwin, Paige Heavey and Nicola Mulvay. Jaime was third to Angela Simpson and Laura Robertson in the senior championship; Paige third equal behind Cosette Saville and Lauren Turner of the intermediates; and Nicola third junior to Holly Edmonds and Kelsi Heath.

Emma Pullen NGHS (SG), Zivana Donnelly NGHS (IG), Brad Sullivan HNHS (IB), Marieke Flett THS (JG) and Robbie Love HNHS (JB) gave Hawke's Bay schools almost a clean sweep by winning their standard grades.

In the relays, the Havelock North High girls finally broke through a hoodoo. In spite of winning Top School and Premier School in four of the last five years, and winning all three relays at last year's North Island champs, Havelock had never won a national girls' relay. Their senior girls did so in emphatic fashion this year when Olivia Gregory, Jaime Goodwin and Sara Bailey won the senior relay by 6m 40s from Chilton St James with Napier Girls' third a further 4m 28s back.

Napier Boys' may have pulled off a first when their senior teams finished 2nd, 3rd and 4th to Massey High. Havelock North were 5th. Napier's best team was Bradley Ivory, Cameron Massie and Duncan Morrison.

Sam Clarke-Winiata, Hamish Lewis and Pearson Williams were second for Napier Boys' in the intermediate relay.

In a very close intermediate girls' contest, Samuel Marsden won by 1m 18s from Havelock's Paige Heavey, Madeleine Parker and Kate Hensman; with Napier Girls' (Naomi Anderson, Rebecca Manson, Abi Temple) third just 47 seconds back.

The junior girls' relay was also a Napier / Havelock fight but the speed of Brianna Massie, Monieka Scott and Holly Edmonds was too much for Havelock's Ashleigh White, Nicola Mulvay and Nathalie Sorensen. Napier won by 6m 4s.

Havelock North High's junior boys pulled off the quinella in their relay when Thomas Hensman, Marcus Yule and Angus Fuhrer beat their own B team of Ryan Calder, James Cruickshank and Harrison Gregory. Napier's A team mis-punched.

Thomas Hensman leads Ryan Calder

Setter's Report on Napier Hill

This was the first course I have set and it was extremely daunting when I received the map as it looked just like a road map but with contours. Where was I to begin with this? But, with many, many trips both on foot and in the car over to the hill (thanks Mum) and with Norris doing the same we managed to finalise the courses. After having decided to set the white course at the Botanical Gardens as it offered the most tracks, while avoiding crossing roads for safety, and offered the most available parking, I set about setting the score event.

As we were only using street controls, putting out the score controls was done on the Saturday and I was able to be driven to put these out.

On the day with fantastic weather it all ran smoothly except for two broken controls and a few confusions with the finish, one of which was Rolf who punched the start to finish. Well done to all those who had good runs (or cycles).

Overall it was a great experience and challenge and I look forward to doing it again but maybe just a summer series would be easier.

Thanks to my vetter, Norris for all the help and work at the start, Dave with his help with the maps and everyone who gave me ideas and help throughout the process.

Harriet

Learning at the EIT

Never before has there been a sprint OY and where better to learn if it works than at the EIT. What a great map, with its mismatched buildings, alleys, gardens and features. It was achieved only through a frantic last week before the event, finishing the 100 or so map corrections so we could meet tight schedules for finalising courses for map printing.

This was my kind of event. Put the controls out in the morning, 41 in all, have them all picked up by 3.00. Pre-marked maps, our new electronic timing system and a fine day made it a fairly stress-free day. Even the week before, my vetter, Rob Poulgrain and I had met on the map at around 10.30, wandered around all the control sites, bought rugby tickets for the Auckland game over the road at the PG Arena, had lunch and careered off to watch the Magpies give the Auks a severe beating. Perfect.

A newspaper article 10 days before the event, intimating that the EIT were about to start another building project, was a bit of a worry, though it was fortunate that as Rob and I walked around the week before, there were workers putting in posts for a fence to be erected. It made the boundaries of the out of bounds area more easily defined. It also brought in a new element in route choice as well as changing the white course.

The people who had slept on the marae overnight were just starting to pick the sleep out of their eyes when the first starters leapt out of their blocks. At minute intervals, the start remained extremely busy, and it took at least a couple of hours before the crowds began to wane. The nicest thing was the number of people who made the effort to come over to the start to say how much they had enjoyed the map. There was plenty in it to keep you honest, with plenty of route choice. With the new building and extended up the hill a wee bit, it would be a great map for a national championship.

We managed to get 15 minutes out of Duncan on the Red Long, suggesting that it is just big enough now. It took a little bit of work to get 2.7 km, but there was little straight line running. Callum Herries is a bit of a worry also, with his blistering effort on the orange course meaning there will be no respite for the oldies once Duncan goes! Olivia continues to orienteer badly and win by miles while Sara, in her forte distance decided to visit the same control twice and not the one she was supposed to, therefore mp'd.

I hope you noticed the GM prototype 'control holder for concrete'. Yes, I now have a half dozen at home that fit the bill perfectly.

Thanks to everyone who came to the event, Rob who kept ringing me up wanting to see my courses (though he couldn't understand how the courses had been done, but were in my head), Pamela who knows when I go field checking, I will return with pages of map changes, and Greg who worked on the computer when Rob and I ducked for cover on that one. Rob was so diligent, that he went out and ran the courses the day before the event, and still made the Wellington game!

I think the idea of a sprint OY has spiced up the series and as long as we can find suitable enough areas to hold them on, is a great acquisition to our calendar.

Arataki Setter's Report

It had to happen. Chris' contribution to the club could no longer shield me from my responsibilities and I was assigned a setting role. Admittedly it was a lower level park event in the middle of the lambing season. I had listened to Chris confidently analysing courses for years and thinking I knew what it was all about, only to realise it wasn't as easy as I thought.

To start with I had to decide what kind of course to do. Having completely stuffed up the score at Bluff Hill I decided that it would be great practice for everyone to do another score event before the Score OY at Tangoio. The Arataki map covers a lot of Havelock North but has been used quite a bit lately. I wanted to use areas that had been less frequently covered and knew how great the little gully system was from walking our dog. It would be nice to introduce it to more people but the very narrow up and back nature of the gully posed a challenge for the white course. It was difficult to make a legible course that did not confuse the kids. After numerous refinements the course looked a bit ugly on the map but fortunately it was much clearer on the ground.

The score event was a challenge in terms of placing controls that would give the speedsters a work out but still give beginners and the slower amongst us some route choices and satisfaction at being able to put together a respectable score. I decided it didn't matter if some people were home early and had lots of fun with highlighter pens planning the points spreads to tempt people to try for the outliers.

The weekend before the event saw me visit each control site in the rain by a combination of foot and car. The dog loved it, rain and all, although the car looked like a rugby team had been through it afterwards. I warned the neighbours of the reserve where the event centre was planned that they would be invaded the following weekend. They are obviously glass half full people as they took the opportunity to market their mountain bikes to the crowd of active sorts who turned up for the event.

The day dawned fine, although the week's rain had softened up the small reserve area a bit much. Chris set out the score controls on his bike while I went out with the girls to set the white course. Heather turned up bright and early, which was just as well considering how long it took us to raise the awning.

Duncan was my advisor with the laptop while Chris did the start – next time I am swapping at half time. You see very little of the event from the back of the caravan although it was great to see all the people coming through. I had a few problems with the printer and downloading competitors' results. The glitches always seemed to happen when a) Steve Armon approached the caravan and/or b) when Duncan had disappeared for a bit. At one stage nothing was working for me when Dave Fisher turned up. "Try turning it all off and starting it up again" was the expert advice and whaddaya know — it worked.

The Jones and Howell girls were great at adding up scores and collecting controls (due to a communication break down a few of the controls were collected a bit early for the later score runners — Cameron, Rolf and Derek were very good humoured about it thankfully).

So after an 8am start we were all home again by 4.30pm. The caravan is a fabulous design with all its special storage points but I have plans for the awning channel involving a can of silicon spray. Thanks to everyone who helped, all the lovely people who thanked me for the course, Dave for getting the maps set up for printing and Pamela for finishing the points allocations and uploading the results.

Oh, and I just found out that the reason I got to set a course was that my husband volunteered me . . .
